State staff against Southwest college

The proposed Southwestern Community College is to be the subject of a negative recommendation by the administrative staff of the Illinois Junior College Board, the Press-Record was told today.

The recommendation is being prepared for consideration by the IJC Board at its next meeting Sept. 21 in Prospect.

The adverse stand is the second by the staff following direct state overtures which implied that the opposite attitude would be taken, a member of the local junior college study committee said.

Last year the IJC staff emphasized the wide diversity of opinions open to the Quad-City area in planning ways to provide junior college services. But almost immediately the staff began to sharply limit the list of possible steps it had outlined.

This summer, the staff said flatly it would approve a Quad-City area community college involving Collinsville and Edwardsville, the committee member related.

It was this pinpointing of Edwardsville, a part of the Lewis and Clark College district, which created antagonism toward the Quad-City by that district's officials; however, the idea originated with the IJC staff, not Quad-Cityans. Now, "heat" has caused the staff to back off from the idea.

Criticism of the Quad-City area was voiced by Lewis and Clark board members at their regular meeting Monday night. The discussion was prompted by a note from County School Supt. Wilbur Trimpe, who said, "There are petitions being circulated in Edwardsville to withdraw and assist Granite City. I think your board should act with dispatch concerning this whole matter and not allow it to happen."

The idea of a wider area than the Quad-City for a separate college took into account tax base and population factors.

Another point was the hope that there could be substantial economies through cooperation with Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

The SUE campus in a sense is within Lewis and Clark but the state legislature has clarified that such boundaries would not prevent mutual cooperation.

The timing of various state actions and comments—and respect for IJC's "competence and efficiency"—prompted Collinsville area residents to decide to seek annexation to the Belleville Area College.

That plan is not revocable, but Collinsville residents say the initiative at this point would have to come from the IJC if there was to be a switch to a new college district.

If the IJC does act to block the proposed Southwestern College, this community presumably could join BAC or Lewis and Clark, the committee member said.

However, the IJC continues to play a prominent role in the decision and the staff has said it thinks the Quad-City should help bolster Lewis-Clark's hard-pressed financial condition.

City. I think your board should act with dispatch concerning this whole matter and not allow it to happen."

The board authorized payment of $7,477 to Lexow as the town collector's salary and expenses in operating the collector's office this year.

booming area, this is the route to go. We should have industry from Granite City to Grafton.

"We have the river, railroads, utilities, roads, land and so forth."

He said better communication with the state legislature and with industry could assist Madison County in attracting new industries.

The proposal to expand the membership of the committee was approved on an 18-1 vote.

Near the end of the meeting, Nelson Hagnauer, county board chairman, appointed Mrs. Alton May of Alton to the legislative committee and said a second appointment would be made in the near future.

Mrs. May was appointed to the county board to fill the term of her husband after his death. Hagnauer also appointed Ford to the county's land use committee. Both appointments were approved.

A tentative list of judges of election for the next county election was approved by the board. The date of next year's county board election has not been set.

The board, by a 21-7 vote, agreed to enter into a joint agreement with Wood River for creation of a 14-acre park near Wood River. The county is to purchase 10 acres of land and the township will purchase 14 adjoining acres.

Each governmental body will be responsible for the upkeep of its portion. The county purchase is to be made with federal revenue sharing funds. A total of $24,000 has been appropriated by the county board for park land acquisition.

A letter from Howard Kaseberg of Granite City, chairman of the Madison County Zoning Board of Appeals was read, informing the county board that controversial zoning requests will not be re-evaluated by the zoning board.

"... all future recommendations of the board of appeals are final. The county board's prior practice of referring back to the board of appeals for reconsideration of controversial recommendations, in effect, amounts to taking additional testimony relating to a case which has been terminated at the close of the public hearing."

"This poses certain legal problems, due to the fact that any further testimony taken relating to a zoning decision is not admissible evidence for a reconsideration without the benefit of all parties concerned being present when said additional testimony is taken."

"The Board of Appeals would like to point out to the County Board, that if you are not in favor of a particular decision of the board of appeals, you have the power to reverse same," the letter read.

Kaseberg's letter said that county board members wishing further information in which to base their votes would be allowed to examine the zoning board's complete file in each case.

"Ultimately, in highly controversial zoning matters, the avenue of judicial review will prevail. These legal remedies, through the courts, are available to any person, firm or corporation who may feel that an injustice has been done," it added.

Enrollment decreases

By DONNA HARTWICK
Press-Record Staff Writer

Enrollment in Quad-City area public and parochial schools totals 17,940 pupils for the 1973-74 school year, a decrease of 534 pupils below the 18,474 pupils in Granite City, Madison and Venice schools at the same time last year.

Of the net loss in the three school districts, 70 per cent—or 373 pupils—is in Granite City School District 9.

Granite City's overall enrollment for the current term is 12,944 pupils, compared to 14,377 attending classes last year. Madison School District 12 reports 2,265 pupils enrolled, down 60 from last year's 2,325, while Venice School District 3 has a total of 641 students in all classes, an increase of only one over last year's 640 enrollment.

Total enrollment in Venice, Madison and Granite City parochial schools totals 1,090, a drop of 102 from the 1972 fall enrollment of 1,192.

The largest loss in any single student classification occurred in enrollment of pupils in Granite City elementary classes (kindergarten through the sixth grade) in which 6,915 pupils registered. This is a decrease of 637 pupils from last year's figure of 7,552 in elementary grades.

Granite City's two high schools have a total enrollment of 4,389, down 247 from 4,636 enrolled a year ago in the ninth through 12th grades. The ninth grade was transferred this year from the junior high schools to the high schools.

Granite City Junior High Schools report a total enrollment of 2,296 pupils, an increase of 167 over the 2,129 enrolled at this time last year. There are an additional 344 pupils enrolled in special education, pre-school and other classes.

Granite City public school registration by grades includes kindergarten, 938; first, 947;

Man shot at 18th, Grand

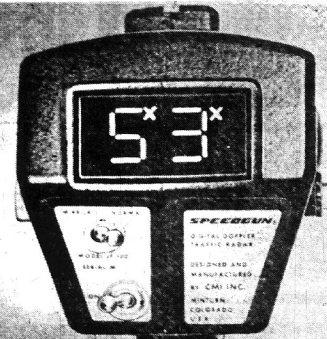

James Hutchinson, 22, of 2149 Lee Ave., received a gunshot wound to his right thigh when a woman in an auto shot him at 18th Street and Grand Avenue at 4:20 p.m. Monday.

Seek new site for Chouteau building

A new site for construction of a proposed Chouteau Township building is being sought by town officials after the Madison County Zoning Board turned down an application for rezoning a tract on which the township had hoped to erect the building.

Town board members, informed by letter of the zoning board rejection, decided during a regular meeting Monday night not to appeal the decision, but to look for a new site of six to ten acres of land suitable for the project.

The township sought rezoning of a ten-acre tract of land west of and on the curve of Route 203 about a mile and half north of Mitchell from industrial to P (public) classification to permit the construction.

Residents in the area of the proposed site objected to the building plans at an on-site hearing of the rezoning plea on Aug. 22.

Chouteau officials have budgeted $45,000 in federal revenue funds to finance construction of a township building and garage, with provisions for a later addition that would house town offices and community facilities.

The town board Monday night paid off a $10,000 fund transfer from the general assistance fund to help finance road and bridge fund bills after the highway fund was depleted two months ago. It also approved payment of $2,789 in wages due highway department workers.

Authorization of the payments followed receipt of $3,762 in taxes from County Treasurer George Musso and $14,000 from Township Collector Charles Lexow for road and bridge purposes.

Patricia Polley, town clerk, reported that the town fund also had received $10,000 in tax funds from Lexow and $5,092 from Musso.

The board authorized payment of $7,477 to Lexow as the town collector's salary and expenses in operating the collector's office this year.

County will expand legislative group

By GARY SCHNEIDER
Press-Record Staff Writer

In an effort to improve communication between Madison County and the state legislature, the Madison County Board Tuesday increased the membership of the board's legislative committee from three to five, providing more members who can attend legislative sessions and meetings in Springfield.

The increase in the size of the committee was opposed by the committee's chairman, Michael Pellegrin of Collinsville, who said, "If we are not capable of attending meetings, then it is not the number on the committee, it is the members of the committee at fault."

Committee members James R. Heil of Godfrey and Robert L. Ford Jr. of Wood River supported expanding the membership to five.

Heil said, "If this county is going to get the state legislature passed that this county needs, we need more members who can get to Springfield and get to know the legislature. We need to get Madison County known as a county that cares what they are doing in the legislature."

Heil said that better communication is needed between the County Board and the Circuit Court judges, which will be assisted by a larger legislative committee.

The move also was supported by Rodger J. Eble of Wood River who said, "If you want to make Madison County a booming area, this is the route to go. We should have industry from Granite City to Grafton.

"We have the river, railroads, utilities, roads, land and so forth."

New speed detection devices in this area

"A new, sophisticated speed detection device will be used by Illinois State Police troopers in the Maryville District," State Police Superintendent Dwight E. Pitman announced yesterday in Springfield.

In addition to radar, vascar and aircraft, 80 speedguns have been purchased with $25,000 in matching funds from the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration.

The speedgun operates on the conventional Doppler Radar principle just as do the presently-used radar devices.

"The big difference," commented Albert S. Hinds, field operations commander, "is that the speedgun is a small hand-held device which does not necessarily depend on the trooper's squad car for power."

"While the instrument can be used attached to and deriving its power from a squad car, each unit is provided with a battery pack which makes it portable," Hinds said.

The speed at which the vehicle is traveling is registered on a digital read-out module so that when the violator is stopped he can be shown the speed he was traveling when detected.

The speedgun has been found to be effective in all the areas of operation to which it was applied in testing.

Extension class scheduled here

Nearly 50 extension courses, workshops and inservice programs are being offered by the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville School of Education in area communities during the fall quarter.

Protest higher road tax

Petitions signed by several hundred residents of the Holiday Shores Mobile Home Park objecting to increased road taxes without proper service were presented to the Madison County Board at its meeting Tuesday morning.

The petitions objected to an increase in assessments on the mobile home park, but specified objections only to road and bridge taxes. The petitions said the park is served only by New Prairietown Road and Old Prairietown Road and because of jurisdictional disputes between the townships involved, the roads are not given proper care.

The residents requested a Saturday meeting with the County Board to discuss the problem. Nelson Hagnauer, County Board chairman, referred the petitions to the county's road and bridge committee to determine specific objections.

A dispute among the members rose as to whether unappropriated federal revenue sharing funds for July 1, 1973, to June 30, 1974, should be earmarked for maintenance of existing services or should be allocated only for financial administration, in which case it could be used for new or old programs.

In a resolution presented by the finance committee, the $877,643 which remains unappropriated was earmarked for maintaining old programs. John Kraynak, county auditor, told the board members, "you don't need new programs next year. You do not have enough money to pay for the existing services."

A floor fight ensued on the words "for maintenance of existing services" in the resolution and ended with a motion to delete the words. The effort to delete failed 12-14.

The board members gave permission to the education and recreation committee to accept bids and award a contract to the lowest bidder on emergency repairs to leaking walls at the Madison County Historical Museum. Damage repairs were estimated at $1,700.

A contract was awarded to Highland Pontiac, Inc., of Highland for a new half-ton pickup truck for use by Animal Health Committee. The contract was for $1,425. A&E Electronics was awarded a $3,645 contract for two-way radio equipment for the same committee.

An emergency appropriation of $25,000 was approved for the depleted Dependent Children Fund.

A report was heard that 103 young men and women worked in every township in the county this summer under the emgency employment program. Many of them are to be made permanent county employees at the end of the summer.

Anticipating questions concerning seniority of those hired under the program and then becoming full-time county employees, the board passed a resolution specifying that all EEP workers will be considered new county employees at the time they are hired by the county and "shall commence accruing county employment benefits, namely sick days and vacation credits, when they are hired as full time county employees," according to the resolution.

Another resolution passed clarified which employees are to be affected by personnel policies approved previously. According to the resolution, "the only employees affected by said policies and resolutions are those employees that are full time county employees on the date said policies or resolutions are adopted, and said policies or resolutions shall have no retroactive benefits or provisions for employees whose county employment had terminated prior to the date of said policies or resolutions."

The board authorized bidding for microfilming equipment for the recorder of deeds' office.

Michael Mennerick, 15, receives Eagle award

Michael A. Mennerick, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Mennerick, 2333 Clark ave., received the Eagle Scout Award in special ceremonies Sunday evening in the Odd Fellows Lodge. The lodge sponsors Boy Scout Troop 35.

Young Mennerick joined Scouting as a Cub Scout in Pack 13. His Den Mother was Mrs. Heddy Barth and Bob Turck was the Cubmaster. His awards during Cub Scout days were the Wolf, Bear and Lion Badges with gold and silver arrows.

At the age of 10 he became a Webelos Scout with Dr. Pete Carich as his leader. He became a Boy Scout in Troop 35 when he was 11 years old and Dr. Carich was the Scoutmaster, later to be replaced by the boy's father who is the current Scoutmaster. In April of 1971, Mike received the Ad Altare Dei Award, the Catholic Church's highest award for Boy Scouts.

Michael became a member of the Cahokia Lodge, Order of the Arrow, Scouting's national honor camping association, in July 1969. A year later he became a Brotherhood member of the Arrow.

During his five years in Troop 35, he has held several offices including patrol leader and senior patrol leader. He is a graduate of Junior Leader training at Camp Susquehanna.

Michael has earned 24 merit badges. His future plans in Scouting include joining an Explorer post and serving Troop 35 as a junior assistant scoutmaster.

Two die, 34 hurt in crash

Two men were killed and 34 persons were injured in a fiery crash involving three tractor-trailer units and a bus loaded with workers enroute to their jobs at 6:45 a.m. Tuesday.

The collision occurred in a heavy early-morning fog on Illinois Route 140 near Hamel in Madison County.

Dead are Jerome R. Eilers, 21, of Effesse, Ill., and Arland R. Slayden, 45, of House Springs, Mo., both drivers of tractor-trailers.

All of the injured were residents of Mount Olive, Staunton and Litchfield and were on their way to their jobs at the Olin Corp. plant in East Alton when the accident occurred.

The injured included Aaron Schuetz of Mt. Olive, driver of the shift workers bus, and Darrell L. Reinacher of Highland, driver of the third tractor-trailer involved in the accident.

Twelve persons were taken to Wood River Township Hospital where six were admitted, and the others were taken to Community Memorial Hospital at Staunton. One was admitted there.

State police said the bus was loaded for railroad tracks on Route 140 about one and a half miles west of U. S. Route 66 and was struck from the rear by the truck driven by Reinacher.

The tractor-trailer driven by Eilers, in swerving around the accident, collided headon with the tractor-trailer driven by Slayden which carried a cargo of oil. The Slayden truck burst into flames and the other two tractor-trailer units caught fire, state police reported.

Firefighting equipment and rescue units from Bethalto, Hamel, Edwardsville, Alhambra and Collinsville were at the scene.

III. Unimpaired.

The supply of pheasant is abundant enough that the Illinois Conservation Department estimates that it is almost impossible to overhunt the pheasant. Despite the increased hunting pressure each year, the pheasant population has increased. Consequently, the bag limit has been raised from two to three birds. This year's pheasant season opens Nov. 15. The Department estimated that the pheasant population is as much as 50 percent more than last season.

Central Illinois also has again been the primary pheasant area, with Logan, Champaign and Livingston Counties serving as the best. Other prime pheasant range areas include Wood, Kendall, Sangamon, Macoupin, Madison, Bureau, Putnam, Macon, Peoria, Menard, Sangamon, Adams and Christian counties. The following are the top 10 counties:

Northern Illinois is expected to produce far more pheasants than last year when the statewide kill jumped to 638,000 birds. Quail hunting was also a prosperous last year, when 1,100,000 birds were bagged. More pheasants and quail, 100,000 more are anticipated this year.

Western and Southern Illinois also produce most of the quail. Quail areas. Stephenson, Oglesby, White, Whitehouse, Henry, Knox, Warren, McDonough, Schuyler, Cass, Morgan, Macoupin, Montgomery, Fayette, Jackson, Effingham and Crawford.

hundreds. The species' population is an other problem that will probably have an increased impact on the hunting population. Outstanding hunters include, in order, Henderson, McDonough, Schuyler, Cass, Morgan, Macoskin, Montgomery, Bond, and Clay, Richard and Lawrence.

Few Illinois hunters realize that the state has no coyote laws. The crow law is broken down into two separate seasons.

It is open to hunting at the beginning of the year and again in mid-summer without a set bag limit. The dates for the two seasons are listed in the season hunting dates listing accompanying this story.

It is suggested that hunters clip out this listing and keep it in their wallet for handy reference when the seasons change.

Conservation has changed its system of granting permits or state-controlled areas this

For example, the department will no longer issue weekend pheasant hunting permits at Springfield for the Des Plaines Wildlife area weekends. Hunters will be served by the regular first-come, first-served basis.

It should be interesting to see how this new system works.

Many Illinois hunters haven't tried turkey hunting, which is relatively new but well established in Wisconsin.

Wisconsin recently doubled the cost of non-resident fishing and hunting licenses. Non-resident anglers visiting the Badger State now must pay $12.50 for fishing licenses, and $70.50 for gun deer and bow licenses. The price for a small game license has been raised to $50. Only the non-resident bow and arrow license remained the same at $25.50.

MYSTERIOUS STREET--This is one of the odd "streets" in Illinois' Giant City State Park, where the visitor will find strange stone corrals probably used by Indians to trap buffalo.

CARBONDALE — Giants may never have walked along the "streets" of Giant City State Park in southern Illinois, but if they had they would have felt at home.

CARBONDALE — Giants may never have walked along the "streets" of Giant City State Park in southern Illinois, but if they had they would have felt at home.

The prosaic explanation for the "streets," "avenues" and the "Devil's Stand-Table" is that they are hard rock cut off from the parent formation by water action which eroded the shale and soft rock, and eventually slipped some distance away when the soft lithery wet shale below them compressed and slid.

Whether or not the cave openings certainly were early primitive residences of the area located in Union and Jackson Counties, south of the town of Conklesville on U.S. Rt. 51, near Makanda. Today the park contains 2,967 acres.

Topping an area of 100 acres, the park contains a great wall of loose stone which at least partially encloses several small, shallow, circular pits. In the pits there are seven such structures, long identified as "forts," but the best one is at Conklesville.

Current thought is that the structure was not, after all, built for defense by early man but rather by the Indians as a buffalo trap to pen the animals which then were "harvested" by being driven into the pits.

The area also abounds in rock shelters where stains on the roofs presumably were made by the Indians in prehistoric man. Certainly in later years they provided shelter for the Indians and deserters from both sides hid out in these same shelters during the Civil War. There are even prehistoric Indian mounds which live in the area among some of the dunes.

Or crevices.

Though located in southern Illinois, the park includes a wide variety of plants and animal life from both north and south. The park is spring flows with bushes from redbud, shad blower, wahoo, Hercules'-club and flowering dogwood. All year the forested ground is covered with red maple, tulip tree, sweet gum, tupelo, cypress and winged elm. More than 75 different trees are found in the park, and in spring vast peach and apple orchards in the area are visible from the park. The hills with the park are of exquisite bloom.

More than 800 ferns and flowering plants flourish there, and in spring the ground is often thick with flowers with common and exotic wild flowers — some 170 different types can be seen in May.

One outstanding item in the park is man-made and modern: the 82-foot-high, 100,000-gallon spherical water tower which won the "Steel Tank of the Year" award in 1972 for "daring artistic design." It includes a circular observation platform 50 feet above ground.

Other attractions include the Robinson log cabin which has been reconstructed and depicts life in the region about 1880, as well as a visitor's center and conducted trips along five trails which, with two others, also can be hiked alone since they are marked to identify important features.

Trails for horseback riding wind through the park and there are camping facilities which accommodate horses, as well as a class "A" campground and a separate camp site for youth groups.

There is a 2,400-foot grass airstrip, and visitors can stay in cabins near the log-and-stone lodge which features a dining room and snack bar. The lodge and cabins, with air-conditioning and television, are open from March until November.

Fishing enthusiasts can take advantage of a land-use lease from the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service for frontage on Little Grassy Lake adjacent to the park where boat rentals, a launching ramp and boat fishing are available along with picnicking and recreational areas, tent and trailer camping.

Walker veto says he is for death penalty—if

Gov. Dan Walker on Wednesday said he would approve the death penalty legislation for heinous crimes if the General Assembly would make certain changes in it.

The bill he returned with an amendment to the specified categories of murder and who can decide not to impose the death penalty when compelling circumstances call for mercy.

Under the bill as passed, the panel had no choice. The death penalty was mandatory if the facts placed the crime in one of the specified categories.

The version of House Bill 18 that Gov. Walker said he would approve contains three elements:

—The penalty of death for six categories of murder: 1. murder of an on-duty policeman or fireman; 2. murder of an on-duty prison guard; 3. multiple murders; 4. murder while hijacking an airplane or other public vehicle; 5. murder by a hired killer; and 6. murder in course of rape, robbery, kidnapping, arson or the commission of indecent liberties with a child.

—Sentencing in murder cases by three-judge panels who determine whether the crime falls into the specified categories of murder and who can decide not to impose the death penalty when compelling circumstances call for mercy.

GOVERNOR'S KIDS

They're living it up in their new home

By PAULINE L. TELFORD
Copley News Service

SPRINGFIELD — Things are humming at the executive mansion these days.

The Dan Walkers, who in January assumed the role as the state's first family, have settled down to making Springfield their home.

And with them, a part of their sizable family. It's Margaret, 13, and 10-year-old Billy (or Will, as his father calls him) who are living up the elegant showplace.

A rubber tire swing here... an inflatable swimming pool there, are tangible signs that more than adults inhabit the huge, pink-bricked structure, newly redecorated at a cost of over $3,000,000.

Also calling the mansion "home," although on a more periodic basis, are others of the Walkers' seven children: Charles, a sophomore at Brown University; Roberta, a senior at Northwestern University; Daniel, Jr., a junior at Northwestern University School of Law, and Kathleen and Julie Ann, both recent brides. Just which school Margaret and Billy will enroll in this fall, the Walkers haven't decided. But it will be a local one.

Margaret will be in the 8th grade and Billy in the 6th. While in Deerfield, they attended Holy Cross.

Other than the Walkers, not since the days of Illinois' turn-of-the-century governors — Richard Yates, Charles S. Deneen and Edward F. Dunne — has there been a first family of any size with really young children.

The Yates (1901-1905) had two daughters, Catherine, 9, and Dorothy, 5.

The Deneens (1905-1913) had Dorothy, 10, their oldest child; another daughter, Frances; a son, Ashley; and later, their fourth child, Bina Day, born at the mansion.

The Dunes (1913-1917) had nine children: two older daughters, Mona and Eileen; two younger twin daughters, Jeannette and Geraldine; three older sons, two of whom were married; a 13-year-old son, Jerome, referred to as "Romey"; and a younger son, Eugene.

South, North, Madison elevens open at home

By KEN THOMPSON
Press-Record Staff Writer

The three Quad-City area high school football coaches are preparing to lead their teams to battle this weekend when they join the 1973 grid season. All will play their initial games at home.

The coaches are Al Vonder Haar of Madison High whose Warriors will meet Central of St. Louis in a 4 p.m. home game tomorrow; Tom Wyrostek, Granite City High School-North, whose Steelers have an 8 p.m. game against Jacksonville tomorrow (at the South Stadium), and Wayne Williams, Granite City High School-South, whose Warriors will play host to Riverview Gardens of St. Louis at 1:30 p.m. Saturday.

The three are in total agreement that versatility will be their main game plan. Two of them, Wyrostek and Williams, believe their teams could ride to victory on the talented legs of their extra point kickers.

Vonder Haar has had less kicking luck — "since 1969, the year we posted a 40 record and won the Midwestern Conference championship."

I even tried to find a good female kicker and failed."

The Trojans, lacking in players to fill skilled positions, will have to rely on eight starting offensive players on defense as well.

They are Tackles Carl Campbell and Ivan Simms,

Guards Orlando Adams and James Turner, Center Kevin Ditch, and Running Backs Chris Stanley, Kevin Werner and Mark Sprinkle.

The three players on offense who are not slated for double duty are End Willie Shearry, Back Joe Young, a 165-pound junior who last year rushed for 325 yards, and Quarterback Darryl Jones.

Vonder Haar said the ground game is the teams strong point "because it's all we have that we have effective."

"Jones," said Vonder Haar, "but with only three passes last year, but is looking good right now. We are anxious to see how well he does against Central."

Even though MHS will have to play basic football against the Red Wings, Vonder Haar isn't too worried. "Central hasn't won a game since they beat us 14-13 last in 1971."

"In our 27 record last year we had a 14-12 victory over Central."

Central has almost double the student population of Madison but also lacks enough skilled players to fill key positions.

Tom Wyrostek, GCHS-North Steelers head coach, former Warrior defensive coach, reports his athletes will play "tough, hard-nosed football, run out of a multiple offense, mainly the wishbone, and play a strong basic defense."

The Steelers' defense will consist of five linemen, four backs and two safeties, with players from the offensive squad filling seven of the key positions.

These will include Guard John McMillan, a 6-2, 250-pound senior, Tackle Otto Seebold, a senior who stands 6-3 at 180 pounds and 5-10 Rick Bohnenstiel, a senior 115-pound tight end, who were acquired from GCHS-South when the enrollment was divided into two high schools.

"Actually," Wyrostek said yesterday, "we have one player who will more than likely be filling three positions. Bohnenstiel is an experienced field goal kicker, which is very nice to have with a team as young as we are."

As a junior starter with the Warriors last year, he kicked field goals for extra points with only seconds remaining to play a decisive role.

Wyrostek said his players need game experience to gain required tactical knowledge.

Other players, all juniors, who will make the back-and-forth, running in his first game, are Tackles Jim Barker and Halfbacks Bill Carr and Mike Doseff.

Quarterbacks Gene Logas, Guard Keith Lucas, Safety Cary Simpson and Fullback Al Sunderick are to play offense only.

"We have a long way to go," said Wyrostek. "But we'll sure give Jacksonville the best we have."

Granite City High School-South Coach Wayne Williams feels his Warriors are in good shape and shouldn't have excessive trouble, barring any injuries.

"We have already lost Paul Mushill from the starting fullback position because of a foot injury this week," Williams said. "But Walt Milton, a 160-pound senior, can fill the spot."

Williams said Linebackers Kevin and Keith Hollis will play a double role and will probably be the backbone of our defense.

He expects returning Quarterback Dave Dombeck and Running Back Dale Williams to lead the offensive team.

"Dave was fantastic last year," Williams said, "until a high injury after the third game sidelined him for the rest of the season."

"He's healthy now, his passing is good and his height gives him a good view of receivers downfield."

Coach Williams said he has an ace up his sleeve, Bryan Bungen, a sophomore quarterback, in case the squad is hit hard with injuries.

Bungen is considered by Williams to be one of the best field goal kickers in the 52-year grid history. He uses the soccer style of kicking.

Junior Kirk Champion also is slated to back up the starting quarterback.

"Bungen's the first in five years I've been here to kick that way," Williams said. "Yesterday, he kicked one from 35 yards out."

Williams said the Warrior game with Riverview could be the toughest of the year.

"They are a capable football team and are considered to be the powerhouse of St. Louis."

No matter who has to play offense and who has to play defense, all three coaches feel that the extra point and kicking in general could make the difference between winning and losing a number of the 1973 games.

Hobby car title may be decided

With Spalding of Pontoon Beach, who captured his second consecutive late model stock car track championship via two back-to-back victories during the weekend, will attempt to put the frosting on his cake tomorrow evening at Tri-City Speedway during that track's "twain fifty" season championship auto racing program.

Spalding passed Clyde Lindemann and Ronnie King on the last lap of the 25-lap feature event last Friday to capture the event and stretch his point standings almost beyond reach.

His lead in the standings became untouchable at Lake Hill Speedway in Missouri Sunday when he captured the 100-lap championship race there, assuring him of the Central Auto Racing Association's point championship in the late model stock car division.

The current hobby stock car division point leader, Pat Walsh of St. Louis, is seeking his first career hobby championship. This will probably be decided tomorrow evening in the 50-lap race on the quarter-mile dirt oval.

Time trials are to begin at 7:30 and the first heat race is scheduled to begin at 8:30.

Busy weekend for grid teams

In addition to the three home football games here this weekend involving GCHS South and North and MHS, there will be more than a dozen other varsity games.

Friday pairings send Edwardsville to Wood River, Bethalto to O'Fallon, Mascoutah to Breese Mater Dei, Alton to Quincy, Jerseyville to Alton Marquette, Piasa Southwestern to Roxana, Highland to Gillespie, Hazelwood to Belleville East, Mount Vernon to Cahokia, Eureka to Dupont and Vandallia to Triad.

On Saturday it will be St. Louis Soudan at East St. Louis, Collinsville at Belleville Althoff and Belleville West at Assumption of East St. Louis.

North High's first athletic win is achieved by runners

The Steelers of Granite City High School-North and the Warriors of Granite City High School-South opened their 1973 cross-country seasons this week.

The harriers of North High emerged victorious by defeating the Oilers of Wood River in the first athletic event held at the new school.

North won 26-33 on a course staked out on the North campus.

Steelers Phil Shands and Oiler Bill Carpenter exchanged the lead over the three-mile course several times before Carpenter inched ahead on the last lap.

Shands finished second, almost 200 yards ahead of the rest of the field. His finish in 17:16, together with his teammates' performance, was good enough to give the Steelers the overall victory.

The other top runners for North were: 4th, Mark Becherer, 18:30; 5th, Karl Ebrecht, 18:43; 6th, Dave Tanner, 19:40; and 7th, Pat Olson, 19:11.

GCHS-South harrier Duwayne Terry, who ran in the shadows of superstar Howie Bryant last year, ran a 2.7-mile course in 15:15 to defeat the runners of O'Fallon and Breese Mater Dei in a triangular meet at O'Fallon Monday afternoon.

Terry's victory was his first cross-country competition. The Warriors were defeated by O'Fallon, 31-36, and Mater Dei finished third in the meet with 77 points.

Two returning lettermen, Jim

Hall and Jim Caschetta, finished third and eleventh, respectively, and junior Sam Nesbitt, running in his first competitive event, posted a sixth-place finish.

In a separate meet at O'Fallon, the junior varsity team of South lost to Mater Dei 31-40 over a 2.3-mile course.

Terry and the Warriors returned to their home course Tuesday for a meet with Edwardsville and were stunned by the efforts of Dick Albert, who passed Terry in the final seconds and led the visitors to a 21-45 win on the 2.83-mile course.

Albert led the field to the finish line in 14:41 with Terry close behind in a time of 14:48.

Albert led the field to the finish line in 14:41 with Terry close behind in a time of 14:48.

The sixth annual Junior High School Football Jamboree will be held Wednesday, Sept. 19, at 1 p.m. on the Prather football field.

Prather, Coolidge and Grigsby will each play two 10-minute quarters (half of regulation time).

Coolidge will open the action against Grigsby, followed by or 33 seconds faster than his best time of a year ago.

Warriors among the front runners were: Jim Hall, 15:35; Sam Nesbitt, 16:24; Frank Holmes, 16:55; and Don Meagher, 17 minutes even.

The harriers of South High will attempt to break their losing streak at Belleville Tuesday's invitational Saturday before traveling to Collinsville for a 4 p.m. meet Monday.

The Steelers runners will be trying for two victories in a row Saturday at the Belleville invitational, and the Trojans of Madison High, defeated in their season opener last week by Mater Dei, will meet Lovejoy on the Trojan grounds Monday.

Losses drop Cards to 2nd

Suffering a sweep for the second straight series, the St. Louis baseball Cardinals dropped out of first place last night by losing 2-1 to Montreal.

Pittsburgh leads with a .500 record of 71 wins and 71 losses. The Cardinals are 72-73.

On Tuesday night, the Expos topped St. Louis 4-1.

Resuming their Busch

Stadium stand Friday night, the Cardinals will host the front-running Pirates for a three-game series.

The Pirates topped Chicago 4-2 Wednesday as Bob Robertson hit a three-run homer.

Pittsburgh was shut out 3-0 by Chicago Tuesday after defeating the Cubs 11-3 with a 21-hit barrage Monday.

3-0 soccer win

Warrior soccer squads, both varsity and junior varsity, held Assumption of East St. Louis scoreless in win their season-opening games last night, by 3-0 scores.

The varsity, scoreless the first half, gained all three goals off the foot of Don Goldschmidt in the last half.

South's Warriors will carry their 10 record to Jacksonville Saturday for a game with Oak Park at 10 a.m.

800 soccer players on 47 teams to begin play

More than 800 youngsters between the ages of six and 13 will participate in the 1973 Tri-City Area YMCA soccer program which begins this weekend.

Jeff Chaboud, coordinator of the program, said the YMCA has 47 teams in five divisions this year—more than in any other season since boys' soccer was introduced to this community in 1962.

The Pee Wee Division serves ages 6 and 7; Junior Atom, 8; Senior Atom, 9; Junior Bantam, 10; Senior Bantam, 11; Junior Midlets, 12; and Senior Midlets, 13.

The men's division consists of six teams in two age brackets—18 to 20, and 20 and over. Fourteen-year-olds join either a high school team or a traveling league.

Chaboud said the YMCA soccer program has a two-fold purpose—development and promotion of soccer as a sport in the local area, and development and teaching of good sportsmanship and high character in youth.

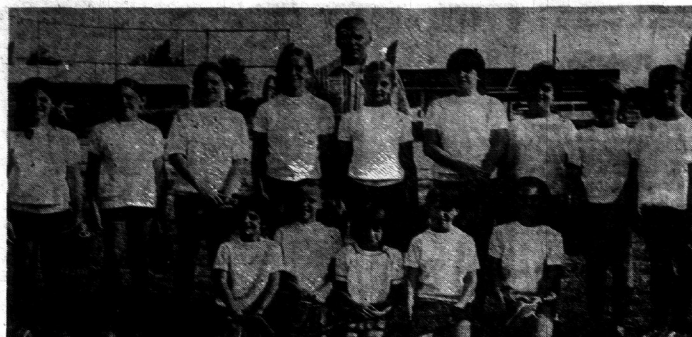

Youths who participate each year are taught that sportsmanship and character are more important than winning, and that the YMCA values the physical, mental and intellectual welfare of its players above any other facet of the program.

"Soccer is a team sport," Chaboud remarked. "It is one of the few sports in our society that is truly a team effort. There is very little room for a superstar, because if any one player feels that he is, he's going to find himself competing against his own teammates. Chaboud feels that people in this area are taking an active interest in youngsters and have thrown their whole support behind him and other sports.

Many of the people directly involved with the program are working toward creating a YMCA state soccer championship, he related. "It all depends on what kind of cooperation we get from other cities and, more important, how much the people of this area support the soccer program this year."

Teams of the Junior Atom, Junior Bantam and Senior Bantam groups will kick off the season Saturday with games on the number 2 soccer field of St. Elizabeth Church, Pontoon and Johnson Roads.

Lack of 7th, 9th graders seen as hurting junior high elevens

With the 1973 Junior High School football season scheduled to begin late this month, coaches in the Granite City school district are faced with the problem of finding enough boys, experienced or not, to form a solid team.

In years past they were able to utilize eighth and ninth grade talent on the grid and could look forward to having the eighth grade players back in the line-up the following year to replace those lost through advancement to a three-year high school.

Because of a major revision by the school district, ninth graders now attend senior high schools, leaving the junior high football team in the hands of eighth graders with no one younger to back them up.

Al Sonnenberg, football coach at Prather, last year had two squads, which consisted of eighth and ninth grade players, and he was able to move players around whenever necessary.

"Since we no longer have the higher grade in our school, I and the other coaches are faced with the prospect of building a new team each year. We are not allowed to have a seventh grade team, as in some districts," Sonnenberg notes.

Coolidge Coach John Tonoff, whose team won the conference title last year, feels it will be difficult to be competitive enough this year to produce another championship team.

"Junior high schools in other districts will be using more experienced boys on their football teams," he believes.

Coach John Sikora of Grigsby said his team will have the smallest players, in size, in the school's history because of a limited number of students to choose from.

Sikora feels that eventually there may be a decision to utilize seventh grade students in the football programs.

State 'dog of year' winner

A Granite City's German short-haired pointer named "Moegards Dandy's Laddie," listed by "Amateur Field Trial Dogs of the Year" as being among the top 20 in the United States, has just been named "dog of the year" for 1973-74 by the Field Trial Club of Illinois.

The award presentation ceremonies took place at Shipman, Ill.

The plaque, presented to the owner, Jim Batson, 2641 Center St., reads:

"In accordance with rules and standards set forth by the pointing dog committee, and by consistent performance as evidenced by placements in stakes sponsored by affiliated clubs, the honorary title of 'dog of the year' is awarded to: Moegards Dandy's Laddie, Jim Batson, Owner."

Batson, who has raised and trained dogs for the past 15 years, said this is the first year he has placed one of his dogs in any form of competition.

The prize-winning dog, which has just returned from a fourth place finish in a Wisconsin statewide meet, was found in Ohio and brought to Illinois as a puppy.

Batson said he has another young pointer which has just completed training and should be ready to compete for the title in 1974.

'Tot Finder' plan aids firemen

A national program called Tot Finder, designed to assist fire fighters in saving the lives of children trapped in burning homes, has been initiated in this area under sponsorship of Luaders Agency, 13 Namecki Village Shopping Center, and the Insurance Co. of North America which the agency represents.

The program involves distribution of a distinctive red and silver decal used to mark a child's bedroom and thus alert firemen to clear that area first.

The decals may be attached to a window or a door where it most likely to be in full view.

James Henderson of the Luaders Agency said today that 5,000 of the decals are to be distributed by fire departments in Granite City, Madison, Venice, Mitchell and Pontoon Beach (Long Lake). The decals have been furnished by the Insurance Co. of North America.

Henderson noted that the decals also are to be used in homes where there are invalids who likely would be unable to help themselves during a fire.

Henderson noted that in the nation's 700,000 residential fires last year, families became confused and separated and often children trapped in their rooms were overlooked in initial rescue efforts.

Air board ends Ferro case

The Granite City Air Pollution Control Board's case against Ferro Processing Co. of Granite City, a division of International Mill Service, was ended by the board at a meeting Monday night.

The board reported that the company, "has submitted satisfactory work rules (in May) and complied with them. We move that the complaint be dropped and the company be allowed to continue its operations in the manner terminated in the manner defined by the board attorney."

The board also agreed that work rules submitted by Lipsett Steel Co. of Granite City were satisfactory and compliance by the company has indicated that no immediate action need be taken. An agreement between the city and the company to proper fire lanes will be necessary before the case is terminated, it was explained.

Also discussed were cases by the board against Granite City Steel Co. Four continuances have been granted by the court and the case is expected to come to a hearing in mid-October, the board was told.

Professor Erwin C. Hoelscher, technical secretary, requested that Theodore Macios, acting technical secretary, be allowed to continue in that role, which formerly was a temporary appointment. Other commitments were given by Professor Hoelscher as the reason for the request.

Want pump retained in area

At the request of residents in the Doherty Slough area, the Nameoki Town Board Monday night agreed to send a letter to East Side Levee and Sanitary District trustees, requesting that a large pump removed from the slough last week be returned and that the levee district construct a shed near the slough to protect the pump from vandals.

The levee district has been reluctant to keep the pump in the Doherty Slough area because of extensive damage to hoses caused in the past by vandals, trustees have said.

Residents feel the pump could be kept near the slough if ways to protect it would be provided. Mrs. Helen Hawkins, a spokeswoman for a group of Doherty area residents, told the town board that the residents fear flooding by fall rains and would like to have the pump nearby.

In other business, Louis Whitsell, township supervisor, said he has sent a letter to Madison County Treasurer George Musso requesting a statement of tax receipts collected by the county for the township and the amount distributed.

Granite City Press Record Page 10 Thurs., Sept. 13, 1973

The letter also asks Musso to detail the amount of interest the county has earned by the investment of the township funds. The supervisor has charged Musso's office with investing collected Nameoki tax funds in interest-bearing accounts and then using the interest collected for county purposes.

The township, meanwhile, has had to sell anticipation warrants and is paying interest on the warrants because an insufficient amount of tax funds has been received.

Whitsell said state law requires that Musso release tax funds to the township within 30 days of collection. The law also specifies that the county must provide a complete accounting of tax collections and disbursements when formally requested.

Mrs. Mary Ann Parison, 2000 Clark Ave., and Allen G. Holtzford, 206 Edwardsville Road, Madison, were approved for employment as deputy assessors by the board of auditors. They are to measure property and homes for assessments when formally requested.

Complaints from township residents of open garbage trucks driving through the township were heard by the board, which ordered the health officer to investigate.

Douglas Teeter, town clerk, noted that the township's Ordinance 1 prohibits open garbage trucks in the township.

It was reported that bids may be opened in October or November for expansion and improvement of the town hall. The board met in special session with the architects Saturday to modify plans for the program.

RECOGNITION WEEK ACTIVITIES scheduled Sept. 17-21 were discussed Tuesday morning by city officials and representatives of the Expanded Food and Nutrition Education Program of the Cooperative Extension Service of the University of Illinois and the U.

Weeklong program to honor extension aides

Extension Service program assistants—homemakers who help teach their neighbors about good nutrition and how to make the best use of their money, time and talents—will be honored in the Quad-Cities and throughout Illinois during the week of Sept. 17-21.

Program assistants are key workers in the Expanded Food and Nutrition Education Program (EFNEP) of the Cooperative Extension Service of the University of Illinois and the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Catherine Mauck, County Extension Adviser, explained, "They help to bring food and nutrition information to thousands of Illinois families."

In Illinois, 284 EFNEP program assistants in 37 counties are helping 51,061 people in 10,758 families.

There are 13 EFNEP program assistants in Madison County, Mrs. Mauck said. During the past year, they brought helpful information to 2,000 people in 360 families in the Quad-City area of Venice, Madison and Granite City.

"The effectiveness of EFNEP depends to a large degree in the efforts of program assistants," Mrs. Mauck says. "The program relies on program assistants to relay educational information to consumer audiences and to extend the reach of county Extension staff members."

Program assistants receive training in foods and nutrition or consumer subject-matter areas as well as in teaching and working with others. Then they share the information with homemakers in their neighborhoods.

The Illinois nutrition-education program began in 1969 as part of a national extension effort to bring food and nutrition information to rural and urban families with limited incomes.

The mayors of Venice, Madison and Granite City have proclaimed the week of September 17-21 "Program Assistant Recognition Week" and many special events have been planned.

Madison County activities include: A Volunteer Recognition Program at the Lee Park Building in Venice at 6 p.m. on Sept. 17; a Program Assistant Recognition Banquet at the Round Table Restaurant in Collinsville at 7 p.m. on Sept. 19 and an educational tour for the program assistant to food processing plants on Sept. 21.

Madison County program assistants and the areas where they work include: Leora Howlett, North Venice; Jamie Kemp, Newport; Doreen Helen Johnson, Lee Wright Homes; Wilma Hancock and Lynn Krug, West Granite; Yvonne Marr, Venice Homes; Glenzola Ware and Lenora Brown, Eagle Park Acres; Ole Vee Nix, Norma Burns, and Jewel Van Vleet, Kirkpatrick Homes; Rosalie Gruenewald, East Madison; and Margaret Wade, Gareche-Greiner Homes.

Senior citizens tour university

Approximately 1,500 senior citizens attended a Senior Citizens' Fair at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville Wednesday in the University Center.

The event was co-sponsored by the Madison County Economic Opportunity Commission and the Community Involvement Project at SIUE.

Tim Tighe, coordinator of special programs in the SIUE Student Activities Office, said many offices and departments took part.

The day-long program included entertainment, such as folk-singing, ballroom dancing and varied musical entertainment. Booths were set up by representatives of social service agencies to answer questions.

Campus tours were arranged by the University Ambassadors and travel films were shown in the Mississippi Room. The Rev. Lucius Cervantes of St. Louis was keynote speaker.

We have a number of people on our campus who are aware of senior citizens and their special needs, so we at SIUE and the Madison County EOC wanted to give senior citizens in the area an opportunity to get together once again," Tighe said.

Urges old septic tanks be filled

Granite City residents who have old septic tanks or cesspools which never have been filled since sewer service became available should have them filled as a safety precaution. Mayor Paul Schuler suggested Wednesday after a cave-in of a septic tank at a home in the 2800 block of Nameoki Road.

Mayor Schuler said the cave-in left a 10 by 12 foot hole about 15 feet deep, partially filled with water. The earth over the septic tank gave way shortly after a child walked across the area, he said. There were no injuries.

The mayor noted, however, that such instances could occur when a person was standing on the surface and could result in injury.

"I assure there are septic tanks or cesspools which were used years ago that have not been filled in, and these present a danger," the mayor said. "I would hope that each household who is aware such a condition exists would take steps to remedy it by filling in such danger spots."

Circle 835 members distributed food baskets during the summer months to needy families in the Quad-City area, the regent reported. She discussed plans for a corporate communion at St. Mary's Church in Madison at 9:30 a.m. Sunday.

A slate of officers was presented by Miss Millie Nagel, assisted by Mrs. Grace Range and Mrs. Vera Carey, and an election was set for the October meeting.

During the program, the charter was draped in memory of a deceased member, Mrs. Nettie Gnojewski.

Girl Scouts start cookie sale Sept. 21

Girl Scouts and Brownies in the River Bluffs Girl Scout Council, including the Quad-City area, will open their annual "Girl Scout Cookie Sale" drive by taking advance orders starting Friday, Sept. 21, it was announced today by Mrs. Norman (Doris) Stotz, cookie sales chairman for all neighborhood scouting units in District 4.

For the first time in several years, Brownie troop members will combine their efforts in the sale with their senior counterparts in Girl Scout units.

Mrs. Stotz said. Orders will be taken through Sunday, Sept. 30. Cookie sales chairmen in the Quad-Cities were named by council executives this week. They include: Mrs. Alvin Edwards, 2528 Benton St.; Mrs. Glenn Yetter, 2420 Edison Ave.; Mrs. Judy Donaldson, 1538 Fifth St.; Madison; Miss Carolyn Vozay, 2705 Angela Drive; and Mrs. Derwood Bono, 2545 Waterman Ave.

Delivery dates for the cookies ordered will be from Oct. 29 to Nov. 9 in the Quad-City area, Mrs. Stotz said.

Guild opens season

The first meeting of the fall season of the Afternoon Guild of St. Peter Evangelical United Church of Christ opened with a smorgasbord luncheon.

"Choose Life" was the program theme presented by Dr. and Mrs. William Koschewski, who displayed illustrated chalk etchings, entitled "The Summer and Fall of Life."

A business meeting was opened by the president, Mrs. Edith Rube. Mrs. Hilda Davis announced the guild will host a "Luncheon Is Served" event at 12:30 p.m. Nov. 7, with tickets now available at a cost of $1.50 each.

Mrs. Ertha Johnson reported that St. Peter's Church had reached its goal in the blood donor program by Quad-City Women United and the Red Cross.

A new member, Mrs. Dorothy Luendert, was introduced and welcomed by the group. It was announced that guild members will be guests of the St. John United Church of Christ Guild in October.

Guy Hancocks mark anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Wilburn Hancock, 244 Bryan Ave., were honored on their 25th wedding anniversary at an open house reception given during the weekend by their sons-in-law and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Gardner and Miss Teresa Hancock.

The event was held in the Hancock home. The buffet table was centered with a wedding cake and a floral arrangement prepared by Mrs. Betty May, who served as honor attendant at the honorees' wedding.

Miss Teresa Hancock presided at the guest book. Madison concerned over sewer break Concern over a flooding threat in Madison caused by a collapsed stormwater sewer was voiced by Madison city aldermen during a council meeting Tuesday night.

Alderman John Haynes of the Fifth Ward said he had received numerous calls from residents complaining of water standing in the streets as long as two days after rains.

Haynes said he and Street Superintendent Elmer Smith examined a break in the six-inch storm water line from the city and it clearly had collapsed on the Granite City Army installation property.

He said the U.S. Corps of Engineers has been notified and has agreed to repair the sewer, "but we could all be flooded while it's being fixed," he said. The aldermen were asked to seek ways to speed the repair of the line.

Granite City Press Record
Page 18 Thurs., Sept. 13, 1973

Haynes also said he received complaints this week of a foul smell from the water piped into homes in the city by the East St. Louis and Interurban Water Co.

The aldermen agreed to notify the water company of the complaints.

An $11,250 contract was awarded to MacIver Asphalt Co. for 1,250 tons of blacktop to be used in the city's street resurfacing program. MacIver was the only bidder with an offer of $9 per ton.

Smith was granted permission to advertise for the purchase of a used five-eighths asphalt roller to be used in the street program. Bids will be opened at 1 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 26, in City Hall.

The councilmen voted to have the legal department write the Terminal Railroad Association asking that crossing lights be installed at the crossing in the 1300 block of State Street. There have been three recent accidents between vehicles and trains there, it was noted.

Raymond Kozielek of the Third Ward requested the attorneys to prepare ordinance authorizing stop signs around St. Mary's School to slow traffic there.

One sign will stop northbound traffic on Alton Avenue at James Street, one will stop southbound Alton Avenue traffic at 10th Street and the third will stop eastbound traffic on 10th Street at Lee Avenue. Smith was requested to order the needed stop signs.

Payment was authorized to the Madison County Emergency Employment Program of $2,000 for the city's share of matching funds for wages of the emergency program's employees in the city. The funds will pay costs through Dec. 15.

After Dec. 15, the city is to pay full wages to two program employees, while the EEP office will pay the wages of a third until Feb. 15, 1974.

Permission was granted to Investigator Paul Bargiel and Patrolman Thomas Voloski to attend the Illinois Police

A dance and musical presentation featuring Red Lehr, bass horn player, will be given from 7:30 to 11:30 p.m. Sunday at the Venice-Madison American Legion Hall. Don Scherrer's Banjo Palace Band will play. The event will be sponsored by the "BIB" Club, a fraternal group.

Films are to be shown and refreshments will be served. Applications for fire and accident home inspection will be distributed.

Hospital program Saturday

Cong. Melvin Price of this district will take part Saturday in an open house program planned at St. Elizabeth Hospital to celebrate completion of new facilities. The observance will be held from 9 to 11 a.m.

Newly-completed portions of the enlarged and improved hospital will be on display, according to Sister Mary Thomas, hospital administrator.

"We are officially presenting our new facilities housed on the ground floor of the hospital," a spokesman said. "Some of the new and expanded areas were made possible by the construction and opening of our new wing. Included in Saturday's visit will be the laboratory, social service department, electrocardiogram area, encephalogram section, business offices, new outpatient waiting area and the redecorated main lobby.

Those wishing to tour the new facilities between 9 and 11 a.m. Saturday are to enter the main lobby, where escorts will be

HOME LOOTED

An undetermined amount of cash was stolen from a closet at the home of Harry Fryntko, 2904 Idaho St., it was reported at 1:35 p.m. Monday. Entry was gained by opening and crawling through a rear bedroom window.

MOTORCYCLE TAKEN

The motorcycle of Tommy Taylor, 2959 Cleveland Blvd., was stolen from his home, he reported at 6:30 a.m. Tuesday.

The lobby is at Niedringhaus and Madison Avenues.

Health parlor reopens

The Quad-City Health System, a massage parlor and health spa located at 1413a Second St., Madison, has reopened after having been closed by the Madison city administration because of licensing difficulties, city officials report.

The reopening was not announced. An official said Tuesday that no city license has been issued.

The city's building inspector, John Dutko, reported at Tuesday night's Madison City Council meeting that he inspected the building and found minor electrical problems, and that a promise has been given that the problems will be corrected.

Dutko said the business is being allowed to continue to operate while repairs are made.

Mayor Mike Sasyk says he has received a check from Louis E. McCoy, 1065 Greenwood St., Madison, as owner of the business, for a new city license, but that Sasyk has been holding the check. The business first was closed in June because McCoy had failed to file an assumed names document listing names of persons owning the business. It stayed closed for part of the summer after the city passed a new ordinance controlling health spas and requiring expensive recreation equipment and other facilities, including a shower room.

The building inspector said

Granite City Press-Record Thurs., Sept. 13, 1973 Page 19

Tuesday night that the management of the business has complied in every way with city requirements. McCoy filed an assumed names document with county clerk June 21, she reported. The legal announcement of the filing appeared in an Edwardsville newspaper.

New warden at Stateville

Illinois Department of Corrections Director Allyn R. Siefaff announced Tuesday the appointment of Joseph G. Cannon, 48, presently deputy commissioner of the Minnesota Department of Corrections, as warden of Stateville Penitentiary, Joliet, effective Sept. 24.

Siefaff emphasized that Cannon's appointment has no connection with a Sept. 6 disturbance at Stateville.

In a reorganization of the Joliet Correctional Complex made by Siefaff during late July, the Joliet and Stateville branches of the penitentiary system were separated and each now operates as an individual entity, similar to the way the other adult division institutions are operated.

Stateville's Minimum Security Unit is a program adjunct, or arm, of the institution, rather than a separate facility. Individual wardens of the two institutions report directly to David Briferton, administrator of institution services for the department's adult division.

Siefaff appointed Charles A. Felton, 29, formerly assistant deputy commissioner of special services for the Georgia Department of Offender Rehabilitation, as warden of Joliet Penitentiary on Aug. 23.

3 to receive 33rd degree

Leading Freemasons of the United States, Canada, Europe and Latin America will meet in Detroit between Sept. 20 and 27 for the annual session of the Supreme Council of Scottish Rite Freemasonry for the Northern Jurisdiction.

An attendance of 2,500 Thirty-third Degree Masons and wives is expected from northeastern and midwestern states making up the 511,000-member Northern Jurisdiction.

The 33rd Degree, highest honor of Scottish Rite Masonry, will be awarded on Wednesday, Sept. 26, to 190 members of the Fraternity coming from the 15 states and chosen by the Supreme Council because of "outstanding contributions to Freemasonry or for significant service to others reflecting credit on the Fraternity."

Recipients will include Fred H. Houze, Collinsville, a Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. supervisor; Illinois Supreme Court Justice Joseph H. Goldenhersh, Belleville; and Charles G. Chenoweth, Belleville, a retired soft drink bottler.

Topics at Detroit will be the status of Scottish Rite's 40-year-old program of basic research into the causes of schizophrenia and a new endeavor—construction of a $6 million museum and library complex in historic Lexington, Mass., as a Masonic contribution to the U. S. Bicentennial observance.

Rites Tuesday for Wayne Stallings

Funeral services were conducted at 2 p.m. Tuesday in Harrisburg, Ill., for Wayne Stallings, 55, of Rawleigh, Ill., an employee of the Division of Children and Family Services with offices in Maryville, Ill. Mr. Stallings died at 2:30 p.m. Saturday at St. Elizabeth Hospital, Granite City, after apparently suffering a heart attack in the Maryville office. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Juanita Stallings, three foster children, two sisters, and brother. Burial will be in Lindale Memorial Cemetery, Eldorado, Ill.

Recycling center benefits area, Vista worker tells garden club

Mrs. Ellen Schelling, a Vista volunteer, was guest speaker at the September meeting of the Garden Study Club at the home of Mrs. Robert Briggs, 3207 Erin Drive.

Mrs. Schelling has been working in the City area since February with Coordinated Youth Services (CYS), United Fund agency.

Presently, she is supervising the CYS Community Recycling Collection Center, located at Adams Street and Niedringhaus Avenue, which she noted serves the community ecologically by reducing solid waste and also providing employment for area youths.

Plans for beautifying the recycling center grounds were reviewed and club members expressed their interest in providing assistance.

Mrs. Charles Lexow led the club collect and a dessert course was served by the hostess to 13 members and two guests. Roll call was answered by naming wild flowers.

The Lakewood Garden Club of Collinsville will sponsor a flower show, entitled "A Little Bit of Autumn," Oct. 6, from 1 until 5:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Charles Uptake; it was announced.

Also reported was a proposed visit to the local area on Oct. 12 of Mrs. Eugene Tamillio, state president. A reception in her honor is being planned.

Mrs. C. E. Eads, vice-president, who conducted the meeting said the Garden Study Club will serve as host club at the District V Presidents Council Day.

Misses E. H. Thies, R. D. Blankenship, Olivia Lehman and Delbert McKissick will help to furnish refreshments for the tea table at the District V flower show, it was announced. The event will take place Sept. 27 at Fischer's Restaurant in Belleville.

Also planning to attend the luncheon and show from the local garden club are Meadames G. W. Stearns, Wilmer Winter, C. E. Eads and Dan Seymoure.

Formation of the Junior Garden Club under sponsorship of the Garden Study Club was reported by Mrs. Thies and Mrs. Blankenship. Officers elected by the youth group are Terri Kaye Thies, president; Beth Hoff, vice-president; Carolyn Godin, secretary; and Randy Sigite, treasurer.

Mrs. Clifford Mang presented the program "Poetry and its Culture" at Mrs. August Thies and Mrs. Wilson displayed flower arrangements from their gardens.

Mrs. Charles Lexow will entertain the group at its October meeting.

Kenneth Cann led the pledge of allegiance and Miss Emma Sue Rose gave the PTA Prayer.

Mrs. Frances Merkle's lower intermediate room won the attendance award for having the highest percentage of parents at the meeting.

Unit officers and chairmen were hosts at a social hour, serving refreshments in the cafeteria to conclude the evening.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN R. RIGGINS, who exchanged wedding vows at St. Paul's United Church of Christ in Edwardsville. The bride is the former Miss Linda Gay Gillis, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Gillis of Edwardsville.

Riggins-Gillis wedding

Miss Linda Gay Gillis became the bride of John Randal Riggins on July 29 at St. Paul's United Church of Christ in Edwardsville.

Officiating at the double ring ceremony was the Rev. Glen Davis.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Gillis, Rural Route Six, Edwardsville. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Riggins of Sand Road, Edwardsville, formerly of Granite City.

For her wedding, the former Miss Gillis wore a white Chantilly lace gown designed with a fitted bodice, featuring a sabrina neckline etched with seed pearls and long tapered sleeves forming points over the hands.

Her bouffant veil was secured with a Chantilly lace bow and she held a bouquet of summer blossoms.

Attending the couple were Miss Debbie Gillis, a sister of the bride, and Mark Lakotas. Gary Kennerly and Harry Adams seated the guests.

The bride is a graduate of Edwardsville High School and the Model Mart School of Modeling of St. Louis.

Her husband was graduated in 1971 from Granite City High School. They are now residing in Pompano Beach, Fla., where Mr. Riggins is employed by an air conditioning company.

SIUE educator speaks at secretaries dinner

Dr. Robert W. Duncan, a professor of English Language and Literature at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, was guest speaker at the September meeting of the Tri-Cities Chapter of the National Secretaries Association. The dinner session was held at Charlie's Restaurant.

Dr. Duncan spoke on "Philosophy of Writing." He noted several factors are important in successful writing, including honesty in writing, having ample research material from which to draw and an ability to be critical of one's own work.

President Sally Gracey was in charge of the meeting and led a discussion on a seminar to be sponsored by the chapter on Sept. 22. An invitation was extended to all secretaries to attend the event. Reservations may be made by calling any member of the organization.

Norman LeTourneau of Edwardsville, the current "Boss of the Year" and his wife, will host a picnic at their home Sept. 30 for chapter members, it was announced.

Among those attending the program was the guest, Lana Randolph. The next meeting will be held Oct. 4.

Peace Circle hears about Alaska

Details concerning operation of Radio Station KJNP - 1170, situated at North Pole, Alaska, and a visit to an Eskimo village near the Arctic Circle were described by Miss Mabel Stewart and Miss Katherine VanOrder for members of Peace Circle of Niedringhaus United Methodist Church.

The group met at the home of Mrs. Emma Schoen, circle leader, and the opening prayer was offered by Miss Nellie Hart. Misses Stewart and VanOrder reviewed their recent trip to Alaska and showed snapshots of the Eskimo village and its inhabitants.

A World War II veteran, who was prisoner of war in Europe during the radio station as his means of accomplishing missionary work, Miss Stewart explained. She said several years of hardship, many difficulties and setbacks were encountered before KJNP was constructed and broadcasts were started.

Station programs primarily focus on religious material, she said, but its airwaves also are used to relay emergency messages when other methods of communication are impractical. Donations from various church groups help to keep the station in operation.

Miss Stewart noted. In the business meeting, Mrs. Schoen reported on an executive board meeting of the United Methodist Women.

She said response to the blood donor program was "very good," and noted that all circle members are being urged to become active in church work, including several projects for which volunteers are needed.

Refreshments were served by the hostess to those named and to Mesdames Pearl Alborn, Marvel Clover, Ruth Johnston, Edna Lynn and Marylouise Niepert.

Alpha Xi names Carol Grimm

Alpha Xi Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Sorority held its first business meeting of the year at the home of Mrs. Pat Scherrills and named Mrs. Carol Grimm to represent the chapter as "outstanding girl" at the sorority's state convention at Joliet, Ill., Oct. 19-21.

Mrs. Joyce Albers displayed a scrapbook she prepared, recording the history of the chapter from 1967 to 1972.

Announcements were made concerning the sale of Christmas cards and various holiday items by the members, and observance of "ALSAC St. Jude Children's Research Hospital Week" set Sept. 28-30, when area teenagers will conduct a door-to-door march, with Alpha Xi members assisting.

The education topic for the meeting was "Happiness is the World of Music."

Plans were finalized for a September "platter chatter party," with the theme "Memories Are Made of This," to be held in the home of Mrs. Mary Modica.

Others present were Miss Betty Bucatch, Mesdames Mary Firtos, Connie Grupos, Barbara Orr, Gerry Mendon, Kathy Dohal, Betty Calligan, Pat Lalich, Sue Sanasarian, Mary Modica and Carol Grimm.

*New and delightful.
Now it's fun to learn words!*

• Here is a new and appealing way to help children learn words and their meanings. The Charlie Brown Dictionary is no ordinary work but a fresh, happy, educationally sound collection of words and definitions.

• Children love the over 600 Charles M. Schulz drawings of Charlie Brown and the Peanuts gang that brighten the pages. They respond to the definitions that are easy to read and understand.

• Charlie Brown himself, Snoopy wearing his dish as a hat, Linus with his security blanket.

Lucy giving advice, all help to motivate children to learn about the over 2,500 carefully chosen words defined in these volumes.

• In addition there are 53 pages of world and state maps and facts to make geography come alive.

• The Charlie Brown Dictionary uses a new educational technique developed by Wendell W. Wright, Ph.D., Dean of the School of Education, University of Indiana. The result is a true children's classic of eight colorful, hard cover volumes that belong in every home.

NEED GUARD FOR PARKED BICYCLES

To the Editor:
Was a bike stolen from your yard or driveway this summer? I know of many cases where such a crime has been committed, but nothing has been done.

Now that school has started, some children are afraid to ride their bikes, even to lock them. I know of cases where they were locked and still stolen, even at the park.

I know there are facilities to park a bike at the High School South, but is there any safety? I wonder if there could be someone on watch duty and tickets given, just like a parking lot, to the students who have a good distance to walk with no bus for them.

The tickets could be turned in, their bike checked out and the same tickets could be used again the next day.

We should think it over and maybe some action could be taken. Are there any suggestions or comments?

If people can ride from here up to Alton on special trips, I don't see why a problem like just riding to school couldn't be solved.

DOUBLE SHIFT NOT MERELY OVERTIME

To the Editor:
A local industry requires that all hourly employees work a reasonable amount of overtime. This sounds fair. A mill must run at maximum capacity to show a profit.

A recent incident in a finishing department is alarming. An overhead crane man working 4 to 12 was directed to also work the midnight shift.

When he informed his supervisor he couldn't work 16 hours straight because he was tired, he was told disciplinary action would be taken. The following day he was given a reprimand, although he has missed only three days of work in over ten years.

In the past 31 weeks he has worked over 336 hours of overtime. Any fair-minded man or woman would agree that is a reasonable amount.

His only crime was wishing to spend his scheduled time off with his wife and children.

The episode poses a serious question: Are executives aware of such treatment, or is it the action of one individual trying to further his career?

CRIPPLING LUNG DISEASE IS TARGET

To the Editor:

Lung disease is a "crippler." Six million American children can attest to the fact because they, the sufferers of severe asthma, chronic bronchitis, bronchiectasis, "childhood emphysema" and the inherited, incurable disease cystic fibrosis, can be crippled by lung disease.

Every parent knows colds in the chest, when children cough for a few days or a week. But long-term, chronic or recurrent coughing and wheezing may be signs of serious, even crippling lung disease.

Children with lung diseases need specialized treatment. If parents are aware of this possibility, prompt action can cure many of them and bring relief for all.

On the other hand, neglect of symptoms—such as persistent coughing, wheezing, failure to gain weight—despite excessive appetite, pneumonia more than once during childhood, or enlargement of the ends of the fingers—may delay the benefits of modern therapy beyond the point at which maximum benefits are possible.

The Gateway Chapter of the National Cystic Fibrosis Research Foundation is helping children with many serious lung-damaging diseases. The NCFRF was founded to raise funds for research into cystic fibrosis. But it soon became apparent that the symptoms of CF and other diseases were so similar that only specialized diagnostic techniques could distinguish among them.

Therefore, the more than 100 CF Centers associated with the Foundation across the country have broadened their programs to include these other serious, chronic lung diseases in children.

The treatment devised for a CF, which manifests itself by thick, gray mucus collecting in the airways, is very successful for children with the other chronic lung-damaging diseases, especially if introduced before serious damage is done.

In cystic fibrosis there also is a blocking of the pancreas by mucus, so that the enzymes needed for digestion do not reach the small intestine. With the other diseases, this is not so. The outlook for "outgrowing" a disease like asthma is bright; but not so with cystic fibrosis.

Cystic fibrosis is still incurable, but modern medical techniques have increased the life expectancy of C-F patients to 12 to 14 years, with many patients living into their twenties, sometimes thirties.

The techniques include introducing medicated mist into the breathing passage through a face mask, and the use of a mist tent in which patients sleep all night in heavy vapor to help loosen mucus accumulation in the lungs.

Physical therapy is conducted to help remove the mucus, and antibiotics, vitamins and pancreatic enzymes are often taken daily.

The main thing is for parents to be aware that some respiratory afflictions can be as serious as certain infectious or muscular diseases about which they know more.

Crippled lungs don't show in photographs, but the child whose lungs are damaged can be as crippled as the polio, arthritis or muscular dystrophy patient.

If your physician refers you to a C-F Center, it does not mean your child has cystic fibrosis. As many as six out of seven cases so referred turn out to be other than fibrosis, responsive to treatment and, in time, even to cure.

A test to measure the salt content of sweat determined with great reliability whether C-F is involved, for these children have a high salt content and the others do not.

Early diagnosis of respiratory problems and prompt medical treatment can not only alleviate painful symptoms, but may prevent lung damage in many cases.

Every parent should be aware that serious, chronic lung diseases in children exist on a scale that most people do not realize.

Children who display one or more of the symptoms of such illness should be carefully checked as early as possible. Anyone willing to volunteer for the Cystic Fibrosis Breath of Life Campaign in the Quad-City area through Sept. 16 may contact the area chairman.

Contributions may be sent directly to First Granite City National Bank (check made payable to CYSTIC FIBROSIS). Each contribution is tax-deductible.

In Memoriam

In memoriam of GARY LEE RALLEY II, passed away Sept. 15, 1973. Today recalls sad memories of a loved one gone to rest. Those who think of you today Are the ones who loved you best What we would give to see you smile. 32 9 17

Today sit with us and talk awhile The blow was sudden The shock was severe To part with one we loved so dear. 32 9 17

We often sit and think of you Whang you used to say and do We wonder why you had to die Without a chance to say goodbye. 32 9 17

Sadly missed by— ALL WHO LOVED HIM 32 9 13

In loving memory of GEORGE (CORRY) EVANGELIAUF, who passed away Sept. 12, 1973. "Remembering our happy times." 32 9 13

MARY and CHILDREN 32 9 13

In loving memory of ALTON MILAM, Sept. 15, 1968. You are not forgotten loved one who you ever be. As long as life and memory last We will remember thee. 32 9 13

Sadly missed by— SON, DAUGHTERS, GRANDCHILDREN and GREAT-GRANDCHILDREN 32 9 13

In memory of DEMOS NICHOLS who passed away Sept. 13, 1972. Love is enduring and patient and kind. It judges all things with the heart not the mind and love can transform the most commonplace into beauty and splendour and sweetness and grace. For love is unselfish giving more than it takes, and no matter what happens love never fades. It's faithful and trusting and always believing, guileless and honest and never deceiving. Yes, love is beyond what we can define, for love is Immortal and God's Gift to Divine. 32 9 13

Sadly missed by— Wife RUTH, Daughters, and Friends 32 9 13

EXPLOSIVE RELAXATION—Bubble blowing is a favorite pastime of Kim Sheffield of Granite City, a freshman in general studies at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. From the beginning of a tiny bubble to the big burst, her mastery of the art of bubble gum blowing is evident, and Miss

Grand Funk proves its musical maturity

Many people have shaken their heads in amazement and disbelief at Grand Funk's phenomenal success in recent years. However, their latest album, "We're an American Band," should prove to these disbelievers that Funk has always been a good rock band but perhaps lacked direction. There are several reasons for the changes which have come about with this fantastic band. First, the fellows have reached a musical maturity. Second, organist Craig Frost is now a permanent member and complements Mark Farner's guitar and vocal work as another focal point for the band. Third, Todd Rundgren produced the LP and his versatile talents and years of experience are there to be heard.

Another change is the choice of material, which is excellent, for the disk not only contains the powerful rock that Funk is renowned for, but also includes a little blues and some slow tempo work done with excellent taste. Best cuts on the album include the title cut "We're an American Band," which is already a hit single, "The Railroad," "Creepin'," "Walk Like a Man" and "Stop Lookin' Back."

A bright gold cover, a gold vinyl record and an interest-

RCA's new album release "Love and Music," by Porter Wagoner and Dolly Parton, is bound to be a big hit with country western fans. They sang good down-to-earth country all the way. Together, they blend especially well with the ballads which they do the best. "There'll Always Be Music," "Come To Me," and "Wasting Love."

On the return of film classics on television you see old familiar names once in a while, like Douglas Shearer and Percy Westmore. Or Max Steiner. When Steiner was doing the film score you knew the music would be good and chills in the thriller, like "King Kong," and warm and romantic in films like "Since You Went Away." Steiner, who died a couple of years ago after writing the scores for 135 films, was a master at blending the musical background into the action on the screen. He won three academy awards. Now RCA has issued an LP called "Now, Voyager," which includes parts of the memorable scores of Steiner, re-created by Charles Gerhardt and the National Philharmonic. Besides "Kong" and "Since You Went Away," they include "The Big Sleep" (Bogart and Bacall), "The Informant," "Johnny Belinda," "Saragosa Trunk," and "The Charge of the Light Brigade" (an Errol Flynn swash-buckler). This is a good one not only for nostalgia buffs but for those who love dramatic, beautifully arranged music of the type that Steiner did so well.

Having hit upon a good thing, RCA is swinging along the "greatest hits" route with some more LPs. The latest feature the "greatest hits" of Prokofiev. Last and for a relatively more modern note, Kurt Weill. Last is represented by the "Hungarian Rhapsody" (who could leave it out?), the last two movements of his "Piano Concerto No. 1," "Mephisto Waltz" and "Liebestraum" (performed beautifully by Van Cliburn). The odd harmony of Prokofiev is displayed in his "Classical Symphony," "Three Oranges," "Toccata," "Peter and the Wolf," a couple of selections from "Romeo and Juliet" and a smattering of the "Violin Concerto No. 2." The always growing ranks of Weill fans will find joy in this LP that spotlights such Weill classics as "Mack the Knife," "September Song," "Lost in the Stars," "Billow Song," and "Surabaya Johnny."

Youth a boost for Scott, 48, vs. Stevenson, 42?

By KEN WATSON
Copley News Service
Springfield—"I really think Scott would win."

This was the opinion expressed by always frank Congressman Paul Findley of Pittsfield, as he discussed the 1974 Illinois senatorial outlook in an informal breakfast session the day before heading back to Washington for the resumption of Congress.

Findley has developed a grasp of grassroots thinking in seven successful runs for Congress. The fact that he thinks Republican Atty. Gen. William J. Scott could beat incumbent Democratic U. S. Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson is of significance.

He represents a predominantly rural district stretching across west central Illinois to the Mississippi River. His belief that Scott would win over the prestigious Stevenson has been matched by that of some high-ranking Republicans in the metropolitan Chicago and suburban areas.

Findley, long recognized for his realism, does not question that Stevenson is a formidable foe. But he points to Scott's tremendous 1,385,085 plurality in his re-election as attorney general last November.

He cites Scott's record in anti-pollution efforts and his appeal to younger voters. Scott, 48, is about five years older than Stevenson, who will be 43 next month. But Scott looks a lot younger.

Like most Republican GOP leaders and especially those who are themselves up for re-election next year, Findley would welcome Scott at the head of the ticket.

But like most Republican members of Congress, he has an exceptionally high regard for U. S. Rep. John Anderson of Rockford, chairman of the House

Teachers' centers to open

Regular sessions at two area teachers' centers, sponsored by Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, will begin next week, according to Thomas C. O'Brien, associate professor of elementary education at SIUE and director of the teachers' centers.

The Belleville Area Teachers' Center will open Wednesday, Sept. 19, with a session from 4 to 6:30 p.m. and the St. Louis Area Teachers' Center is scheduled for an opening session Saturday, Sept. 22, from 9:30 a.m. to noon.

O'Brien said the purpose of the teachers' centers is to provide a place for area teachers to improve their work in mathematics education by sharing ideas, listening to experts in the field, conducting research and developing new activities.

Participation in the activities of the teachers' centers is free. The project is supported by grants from the National Science Foundation.

During the past year, a number of guest lectures by international leaders in mathematics education and national leaders in education, medicine, industry and government were featured at the teachers' center, where weekly sessions are held.

O'Brien said this year's roster of guest lecturers will include James R. MacLean, curriculum director in the Ministry of Education of Ontario, Canada; Mrs. Dora E. Whitaker, mathematics consultant for the schools of London; Hans Freudenthal, editor of Educational Studies in Mathematics; and Peter C. Wason, researcher in logical thinking and director of the psychological unit of the University of London.

The Belleville Teachers' Center meets at St. Augustine's School. Sessions of the St. Louis Teachers' Center are held at the Hanley Road Baptist Church, Clayton.

Venice Technical Center open

The Venice Lincoln Technical Center, confronted earlier this year with a possible shutdown because of funding difficulties, opened for the fall term Friday with an attendance of 125 persons.

Duane Rankin, director, said the center has sufficient funds to assure operation through January, and that he is optimistic that financing will be found to continue classes through the remainder of the school year.

"Mentally, we are in better shape than we've ever been," Rankin said. "The faculty and student attitudes are really great. The students seem to have a real desire to do well and the faculty is going out of its way to give individual attention to their needs."

At the close of school last year there was doubt the Venice center would open due to lack of federal funding. However, a combination of state and federal funds was secured.

The Venice Lincoln Technical Center is designed for persons 17 or over who have not completed high school and want to upgrade themselves.

Night classes are scheduled tentatively to begin Sept. 18. They will include family living, basic education courses, preparation for high school equivalency test (GED) and possibly clinical training.

Persons interested in more information on the classes at the center may visit in person or call 876-7292.

Areas of study include language, mathematics, science, history, government, career education, nurse aide training, clerical and business, work experience, graphic arts and drivers' education.

To replace burned records

Congressman Melvin Price (D-East St. Louis) has been advised by a newly-formed Interagency Committee that most of the veterans' records destroyed in the recent National Records Center fire can be reconstructed.

"Although the full extent of the damage is not yet fully assessed," Cong. Price said, "the Interagency Committee anticipates that many of the damaged documents are salvageable."

Included in this category are records of 15-30 per cent of Army veterans separated between 1912 and 1939, 95 per cent of all servicemen discharged after Jan. 1, 1973, and 58-60 per cent of Air Force personnel, last names I through Z, discharged between 1947 and 1950.

Cong. Price said the committee is confident that most of the destroyed records can be reconstructed from other sources, such as Army Morning reports, Veterans Administration documents and Selective Service records.

"It now appears that no veteran will be denied benefits because of the loss of his records," Cong. Price said. "At worst there will be some delay in processing his application."

In remarks on the House floor, Congressman Price spoke in support of the Flood Disaster Protection Act of 1973, which would double the amount of coverage allowable to purchasers of Federal Flood Insurance.

"All too frequently residents of the 22nd District are faced with the problem of heavy rains and the consequent threat of severe flooding," said Price.

"The passage of this legislation is essential for protecting the hard-earned investments of homeowners and commercial property owners located in low-lying, flood-prone areas throughout the nation."

The bill also would limit the expenditure of federal funds in flood-prone areas to those which are covered by flood insurance, thus providing substantial savings of tax dollars.

Calling attention to the severe flooding of the past spring, Price said, "Until we are able to effectively control flooding, we must provide for the welfare of those who bear the brunt of the damage."

Dauwalter-Mehelic nuptials

St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church in Madison was the scene of the wedding on Sept. 1 of Miss Marietta Mehelic, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Mehelic, 1807 Fourth St., Madison and David Dauwalter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Dauwalter of Carver, Minn.

Arrangements of variegated flowers in tall wrought iron standards decorated the sanctuary for the 2 o'clock afternoon service.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Conran Schneider O.F.M., a uncle of the groom from Quincy, Ill., the Rev. Charles Payne, O.F.M. of Topeka, Kan., and the Rev. Sylvester Micok, O.F.M., pastor of St. Mary's Church.

Assisting in the sanctuary was Brother Joseph Rolenski O.F.M. of Quincy.

James Havranek, organist, played "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring" and "Ode to Joy."

The solemn and guitarist, Bill Ecker of Ladue, Mo., sang "The Sabbath Prayer," "Wedding Song," "Peace My Friends" and "Follow Me."

For her wedding, the bride chose a gown of ivory organza. The Empire bodice and full puffed sleeves were trimmed in Viennese lace and she wore a matching mantilla of lace to cover her hair.

She carried a crescent bouquet of Fuji mums, yellow roses, white daisies and ivy. Maid of honor Miss Andrea Mehelic, a sister of the bride, and Miss Barbara Kostecki, bridesmaid, were dressed alike in velvet and chiffon gowns.

Their dresses were designed with royal blue velvet bodices trimmed with wide bands of powder blue lace and long puff sleeves. The skirts were of powder blue chiffon.

Each carried a white basket of blue and white daisies, yellow roses and baby breath.

The groom chose his brothers, Roger and Jerry Dauwalter, as best man and groomsmen. Ushers were John Schwab and Wayne Dauwalter.

A former teacher at St. Lucy's School in Jennings, Mo.,

Mrs. Wadlow reported on an executive committee meeting and said 60 sick calls were made during the past two months. A discussion centered on the annual bazaar planned for Nov. 15.

Those attending were Mesdames Mildred Cundiff, Eva Evans, Ruth Johnston, Winifred Reimers, Pearl Campbell and a guest, Mrs. Edith Eltherton.

Mrs. Fox will serve as hostess at the next meeting and Mrs. Campbell will be in charge of the program.

Prices soar

Farm product prices rose a record 33.1 per cent at the wholesale level in August, the U. S. Labor Department said Friday.

An index showed an overall wholesale price rise of 5.8 per cent, or 6.3 per cent when adjusted for seasonal variations. These figures were the highest since an 8.1 per cent climb in October 1946.

The previous monthly high for farm prices was an 11.9 per cent increase in July 1946. The new hike of 33.1 per cent was led by higher prices for grains, livestock, oil seeds, eggs, poultry, milk and cotton.

AFL-CIO President George Meany called the statistics "beyond belief" and asked how the President could veto a minimum wage increase when the "worst-paid workers in America will have to pay these prices when they reach the retail level."

The index, which appears to forecast a further food price rise at the retail level on some items, was affected by the Aug. 12 lifting of a price freeze by the government. Retail prices already are up an estimated 12 per cent this year.

Federal officials call the trend "astounding" but say it will taper off.

Compared to July and to a year ago, August grain prices were up 70 and 167 per cent, live poultry 42 and 133 per cent and eggs 35 and 111 per cent.

New referral plan for adolescents

Award of a contract totaling more than half a million dollars to the YMCA of Metropolitan Chicago for care and treatment of adolescent boys was announced today by Jerome G. Miller, director of the Illinois Department of Children and Family Services.

Miller said four Chicago Y's are serving as "transitional centers" for dependent and neglected Illinois children being returned from institutions in Texas and other states.

Misconduct in Texas has been reported.

The centers also are serving as temporary placement resources for children who cannot live in their own homes but do not need institutional care. Participating in the $308,000 pilot program are the Austin YMCA, Ravenswood YMCA and the Harvey YMCA in Harvey.

The programs are for short term care of the teenagers—for periods up to two months. Services include intensive individual and group counseling, tutoring, employment counseling, recreation and field trips.

The Y's are responsible for building an academic profile on each youngster and seeking the best available school situation.

Area flood claims approved

Federal flood disaster funds have been approved for three Quad-City agencies to help finance repair of public facilities damaged by interior flooding last June, according to William L. Eisele, Civil Defense coordinator for flood assistance claims, to Sen. Sam Vandalabene (D-Edwardsville).

The approved claims include $598,970 for the East Side Levee and Sanitary District, for which a $300,000 advance has been allowed; $28,975 for the Chouteau, Nameoki and Venice Levee and Drainage District, for which a $13,000 advance was allowed; and $5,000 for the Tri-City Regional Port Authority for which no advance was requested.

The federal disaster assistance claims are approved by the Federal Disaster Assistance Administration, Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Book rental fees, amounting to $6 per student, are due Friday at Granite City High School-South, according to school administrators.

The fees covering the entire 1973-74 school year will be collected between 8 and 9 a.m. Friday, the spokesman reported.

3 charged after robbery

Two men and a woman face a total of six charges in connection with the robbery of a Granite City couple Monday morning.

The couple, Charles and Danni Reisinger, 3219 Maryville Road, reported three persons came to the door of their home and knuckled.

When Mrs. Reisinger answered the door, they forced their way inside. One man struck her head with a .38-caliber pistol and another man displayed a double barrel shotgun and threatened to shoot the couple, police reported.

The trio stole $170 from the Reisingers and left Granite City police arrested three persons in a car at nearby Worthen Park.

Officers obtained a search warrant to open the trunk of the car and found a revolver and a sawed-off shotgun inside, they reported.

Arrested were Roxanne

Howard, 19, of 1205 Kirkpatrick Homes, charged with aggravated battery and armed violence, and Jimmy English, 30, of the 2200 block of Grville Avenue and William Hayes, 30, of Rural Route One, Box 1308, both charged with armed violence, armed robbery and aggravated battery.

They were taken to the Madison County Jail at Edwardsville where the men were held under $10,000 bond each and Roxanne Howard was held under $10,000 bond.

Mrs. Reisinger, 17, was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital where she was treated for a one-and-one-fourth inch cut to the left side of her head which required four sutures. X-rays were taken and she was released.

Confidential counseling offered at 'Basement'

"Where do I go for help about drugs, alcohol, disease, pregnancy, girl-boy friend problems, or any hassles?" One place to go or call is the "The Basement," located at Church and Morrison Avenue in Collinsville, a spokesman for the program said this week.

"You may come in on Thursday, 2-10 p.m., or Fridays and Saturdays, 4 p.m. to midnight. Or you can call 345-3200 during the times mentioned.

"The Basement" is a hot-line service for anyone who has a problem and needs information or someone to talk to. All contacts are held in strict confidence," the spokesman related. The service is made available free.

Air pollution study in area

Aerosols, not the kind that come out of a can, but the kind which make "smog" and other airborne irritants are the subject of a study which will be taking place in the St. Louis area during September.

Philip Allen, director of the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency sponsored Regional Air Pollution Study, announced that the field experiments, part of the five-year regional study concerning aerosols (particles small enough to remain suspended in the atmosphere causing poor visibility in addition to being implicated in a variety of health effects) will be conducted by a number of universities and contractors including Washington University, St. Louis.

Professors Richard Gardner and Rudolph Husar of the university faculty will be coordinators of the project.

Other participants in the current study are: the University of Minnesota, St. Paul; the University of Washington, Seattle; Florida State University, Tallahassee; the St. Louis city and county air monitoring network, and the Environmental Quality Research organization.

Venice expects assessment cut

Because of an anticipated reduction of approximately $2 million in its property valuations for the 1973 tax year, Venice city officials are projecting a tax rate of about $1.27 per $100 assessed valuation—the same as last year—as the basis of tax bills to be collected in 1974.

The expected rate is based on a new tax levy of $448,435 adopted by the City Council last week as applied to an estimated 1973 assessment of $37 million. The city's assessed valuation last year was $38,021,148.

Venice property assessments have been declining consistently in recent years and are expected to drop at least $2 million this year as the result of objections to industrial valuations.

The city's new tax levy calls for an extension of $123,210 for the general fund and $236,225 for the city's nine special accounts. The levy is $74,557 less than the 1972 levy of $488,992.

In other action last week, the City Council decided to initiate negotiations with the East St. Louis & Interurban Water Co. for a new franchise. The franchise formerly effective in Venice expired several years ago.

Alderman John Ervin, chairman of the fire and water committee, was instructed by Mayor John E. Lee to arrange a meeting with water company officials to begin franchise talks.

That action was taken after the council concurred in a letter written by City Clerk William "Mike" Eberhardt to the water company, protesting a new rate increase proposal filed by the utility with the Illinois Commerce Commission.

Council members were informed that work on the repair of several sewer breaks in the vicinity of Klein Street between Washington and Jefferson avenues has been halted because the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers has told the city it will not be eligible for federal flood disaster funds unless sewers are cleaned and televised before repairs are made.

Ten breaks in sewer lines at different locations have been reported in Venice, with the largest in the Klein Street area.

The city has appropriated $120,000 to finance the repairs but expects to receive flood relief allocations for most of the anticipated projects.

Mayor Lee said the National Power and Rodding Co., Chicago, is scheduled to begin work this week to clean and televise the sewer lines, to determine where interior repairs might be made without digging up the lines.

Venice residents who encounter sewer difficulties have been asked by Mayor Lee to notify State Superintendent Jay Maurer at 677-6510, or the police department at 677-2114.

Law allocates state funds for school districts' construction

Springfield—Illinois school districts are currently looking over legislation which would make some state school construction funds available for capital facilities.

The legislation has been signed into law by Gov. Daniel Walker. It was sponsored in the General Assembly by Sen. Terry, Bruce, D-Olin.

Under provisions of the legislation $100 million could be provided for the program, under the form of a bond program.

The bonds, to be issued by the state, would be general obligation type bonds. All would have to be sold on a competitive basis.

The General Assembly would have to appropriate the money for the bonds to the Capital Development Board. The board, which is appointed by the governor, would help in the bond sales.

If a school district does decide to go this route and a referendum is necessary for the district to raise its portion of the funds for the project, the necessary vote will have to be taken before final approval by the Capital Board will be given.

Even if the voters do approve a plan, it would not reduce the individual district's statutory debt-limiting power.

When application is made on the state level for such a program, the district will have to indicate just how it plans to raise its portion of the funds.

If a school district does decide to go this route of financing capital construction, the district will have to submit an application to the State School Superintendent's Office and to the Capital Development Board. The two offices will then review the proposed projects.

In taking action on the proposed projects, the staffs will be required to meet the specifications of regulations outlined by the two offices. After the proposed projects are approved, the state board will give priority ratings.

The new legislation might prove to be helpful to hard-pressed school districts. Construction referendums have been meeting defeat in some Illinois communities, and this could be one way to ease the tax burden.

MEMBERSHIP RECRUITING is a major objective of the Madison Rotary Club during September. Two enlist in Marines

Two local residents, Donald Mayes Jr. and Dennis Patterson, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Mayes Sr., 1439 Madison Ave., and Mr. and Mrs. Lester Patterson, 1224 Alton Ave., Madison, have enlisted in the United States Marine Corps for three years under the "buddy" program.

This program entitles two or more enlistees to complete recruit training together. The prospective Marines will leave on Sept. 18 for training at Marine Corps Recruit Depot at San Diego, Calif.

According to Staff Sergeant Charles Greenlee, local Marine Corps Recruiter, the recruits will receive 11 weeks of training. Upon completion of their basic new marines will be eligible for leave.

More than 400 jobs are available to men qualified to be Marines. Prior to enlistment Mayes was employed at Tony's Restaurant, 1504 Madison Ave. Both attended Granite City High School.

Businesses buck disclosure order

An Illinois business executive joined with the Illinois State Chamber of Commerce during the weekend in challenging the constitutionality of Governor Walker's executive order requiring suppliers and regulated industries to disclose their state campaign contributions.

Amos E. Buettell, president, Crown Industrial Products Co., Hebron, and the State Chamber—representing 19,000 businesses and women—filed suit in Cook County Circuit Court, seeking an injunction barring enforcement of the Aug. 20 disclosure order, which would require the filing of disclosure forms with the Department of Finance by Sept. 15.

Named defendants in the complaint were Governor Dan Walker and Elliot S. Epstein, director of the state department of finance.

Governor Walker's order requires key officials of all companies doing business or seeking contracts with the state to disclose any political contributions they made as far back as two years ago.

Commenting on the case, State Chamber President Lester W. Brann Jr. expressed "grave doubts" that the order is constitutional, questioned what use would be made of such disclosure information and charged Governor Walker with discriminating against business by not requiring labor unions or other interest groups to report their political contributions.

Children of divorce need security

By CATHERINE R. MAUCK

Madison County Extension
Adviser - Home Economics
Authorities are still debating on how hard divorce is on children, yet one expert who studied children with legally separated parents cites the bitter, tension-ridden home in which parents remain wedded as potentially more damaging to the children than a divorce would be.

Louise Despert, who wrote Children of Divorce, warns divorcing parents to be prepared to explain the divorce to the children not just once but many times.

The children need to hear over and over the explanation of this rift so they can absorb it and realize that the parents have survived it. The manner in which the story is told is as important as the wording.

Parents should assume their children already realize there's been trouble. They should tell them as simply as possible the decision to separate so that some of the children's anxiety can be relieved.

The parents should acknowledge that they have troubles, too, and that they can make mistakes—a truism children would have to face some time in any case.

Security is important for the children. They need assurance they aren't to blame for the split-up and that both parents do love them despite their own problems.

The author also suggests maintaining familiar surroundings for the children—the same home if economically possible or at least the same neighborhood with its important Cub Scout Pack, 4-H Club, or friends.

Most custody decisions have children with their mothers and visiting arrangements for the father become important. Now the father becomes something of an outsider, and his visits and trips with the children may become disruptive.

The divorced family needs great patience to work through these encounters. But mothers, although serving at times for both parents, shouldn't wrap their lives around their children or devote too much time to their attention.

The children need a mother who is carrying on as normal a life as possible with adult contacts and interests beyond her home.

Readjustment after a divorce will be a trying time in any household. The children are caught in a situation not of their own making—and they experience withdrawal of security while their parents own guilt and concern leave little emotional energy to help the youngsters.

Some emotional disturbances in a divorcing home can be more difficult than in a one-parent home caused by death. Relationship problems, aggravated by disputes and compounded by the occasional reappearance of a parent from whom the children were told they'd be separated, make for unusual strains.

Emotional scars will be seen in all the people involved, yet with some careful preplanning and considerable arrangements it's possible to reduce these.

Charity Days start at Nameoki Village

Twenty-two local organizations have reserved both space and plan to display a variety of items at the annual "Charity Days" festival at Nameoki Village Shopping Center, which starts today.

James Henderson of Leaders Agency is coordinating the project for shopping center merchants, who sponsor the event each fall. Booths will be operated from 11 a.m. until 8:30 p.m. today, Friday and Saturday by most of the participating groups.

Henderson said. Clubs taking part use proceeds from the festival to promote their own charitable endeavors, he explained.

Groups planning booths include the Granite City Republican Women's Club; Specialized Services; Granite City Business and Professional Women's Club; Licensed Practical Nurse Association; Tri-City American Legion Auxiliary 117; Church of the Latter Day Saints; Briarcliff Pentecostal Church; Thorngate Garden Club; Women of the Moose Chapter 247; St. John Lutheran Church.

Eta Chapter, Phi Tau Omega Sorority; Junior Auxiliary of Venice-Madison American Legion Post 307; Association for the Protection of Animals, Inc.; Quad-City Navy Mothers Unit 850; Senior Girl Scout Troop 1177.

Seal Society, Nu Zeta Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi Sorority; Daughters of Union Veterans, Tent 90; The Salvation Army; Madison Junior Service Club; Explorer Post 69; and Coordinated Youth Services.

Assessment officials to meet

The Illinois Department of Local Government Affairs will hold its annual training meeting for supervisors of assessments Sept. 17-19 at the Sheraton Inn in Springfield, Director Frank A. Kirk announced.

Representatives from the department and several supervisors will discuss such subjects as appraisal manuals, sales ratio studies, capital stock assessments and special purpose farm buildings.

Kirk said the department has been working closely with the state Supervisor of Assessments Association since July in developing the program.

"The meeting is necessary to provide supervisors with a review of practices and to acquaint them with new developments in their field," Kirk said.

Worthen said that trophies will be awarded to winning competitors in three age groups—6 to 8 years, 9 to 12 years and 13 to 16.

Contestants will start promptly at 9 a.m., with the final tie-off set at 11:30 a.m.

month's precipitation exceeded that by 4.45 inches.

The heaviest rainfall was 4.25 inches in the 24 hour period ending at 8 a.m. Aug. 12. That one rainfall also exceeded the normal total for the month.

Other heavy storms included 1.28 inches Aug. 10, .70 of an inch Aug. 14, and 1.15 inches Aug. 30. Other days on which precipitation was reported were Aug. 15 with .04 of an inch, and Aug. 17 with .05 of an inch.

Maribeth Lockhart and John Kellerhouse wed

Miss Maribeth Lockhart, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell B. Lockhart, 22 Bermuda Lane, and John P. Kellerhouse, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth Kellerhouse, 2010 Main St., Alton exchanged wedding vows at 7 o'clock, Sept. 8, at the Religious Center of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Burning tapers in branch candelabra and an arch of white roses adorned the altar for the double ring ceremony, performed by Rev. J. Louis Oetting and the Rev. James Shortel.

Following the service, Miss Louise Luebbert, a niece of the bride, played an electric piano and Greg Schuebert played the flute, choosing several contemporary songs, including "A Time for Us," "Never My Love," "One Love" and "For All We Know."

Miss Beverly Henderson sang "The Wedding Song" and "Day By Day," accompanied by Miss Luebbert and Mr. Schuebert.

Given in marriage by her father, the former Miss Lockhart chose a floor length gown of white eyelet featuring a portrait neckline trimmed with an eyelet ruffle. Ring puffed sleeves and a flounce ruffle at the bottom of the slightly gathered skirt. A detachable train of white voile was edged with an eyelet ruffle.

Her headpiece of fresh white Elegance carnations, lilies, chrysanthemums and bridal pink roses was secured to a tiered veil of bridal illusion. The bride's bouquet was a cascade of matching flowers.

Maid of honor Mrs. Sandy Lockhart, a sister-in-law of the bride, and Miss Patricia Milford were dressed alike in white eyelet gowns printed with roses. Short puffed sleeves were set in the Empire bodices designed with a ruffle trim at the necklines. Rose taffeta sashes defined the high rise waistlines and a gathered flounce created the hemline of the softly draped skirts.

Matching rose taffeta trim accented their white picture hats and each held a nosegay of Red Garnet roses and baby breath.

Miss Jill Lockhart, sister of the bride, and Miss Dawn Luebbert, a niece of the bride, wore flower girls, wearing floor length white eyelet gowns patterned after the bride's gown.

Mrs. Lockhart, the bride's mother, selected a floor length gown of peach georgette, made with a bias ruffle at the neck and bottom of the gown. She wore a corsage of white orchids. The groom's mother, Mrs. Kellerhouse, was attired in a street length dress of brown lace over beige taffeta. She wore a corsage of bridal pink roses.

Attending the groom as best man was William Cass, Dennis Lockhart, brother of the bride, served as groomsmen. Seating the guests was Steve Clark, a cousin of the groom.

Miss Sherry Lynn Carter, a niece of the bride, was the candlelighter. A reception immediately following the ceremony was held at the Polish Hall, Madison, and the rehearsal dinner given Friday evening was hosted by the groom's parents at Riedel's Restaurant in Edwardsville.

After a wedding trip, the newly married couple will reside in Alton. The former Miss Lockhart, a junior at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, is majoring in special education. Her husband, also a junior at SIUE, is studying mass communications.

Mrs. Earl Glenn at seminar

Mrs. Earl T. Glenn, a member of the Gardenaires Garden Club of Granite City, is attending a national seminar on environmental improvement in Denver, Colo., this week. She serves as state environmental chairman for the Garden Clubs of Illinois, Inc., and is representing 11,000 club members at the seminar.

The Environmental Improvement Program, co-sponsored by the National Council of State Garden Clubs, Inc., and Sears, Roebuck and Co., is a nationwide action program through which garden clubs initiate projects of environmental consequence in cooperation with community groups, public officials and individual citizens. Mrs. Glenn explained.

The seminar is one of two national training sessions being conducted in cooperation with members of the National University Extension Association. Programs will focus on procedures for solving community environmental problems.

Clubs affiliated with the National Council also will compete for district, state and national awards, including a top state award of $200 and a top national award of $4,000, to be presented in the spring of 1975. Richard Hartung of the Sears Roebuck firm also is attending the seminar from this area.

Mrs. Glenn also plans to represent the Gardenaires at a regional convention at Des Moines, Iowa, this month.

The local club has been invited to set up a display at the conference depicting its Mini-Garden Information Center, located at the Granite City Public Library, 2001 Delmar Ave.

The mini-center received the Fisher Garden Center medal of achievement in 1973, the highest national award presented for such a project.

Afternoon Guild installs

Installation of newly elected officers of the Afternoon Guild of St. John United Church of Christ was conducted at a meeting held in the church Fellowship Hall, with 34 members attending.

The 1974 officers are: Mrs. Karmyn Edmonds, president; Mrs. Helen Schaffer, vice-president; Mrs. Eileen Andrews, secretary; and Mrs. Mary Willie, treasurer.

Two new members, Mrs. Helen Love and Mrs. Helen Lanam also were enrolled.

The movie describes procedures women can use to help protect themselves from molestation and avert other unpleasant situations.

The "Fellowship of the Least Coin" service and singing concluded the program.

Fellowships for religious study

Opportunities for advanced study for campus ministers and other college or university religious leaders are being offered through the Danforth Foundation Underwood fellowships, according to J. Robert Russo, associate dean of the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville Graduate School.

Approximately 20 fellowships are awarded annually, with grants up to $3,000 for short-term study or research projects and as much as $7,000 for longer periods of time. The short term is described as ranging up to six months, while longer term projects may extend to 11 months.

The Danforth Foundation states the purpose of the Underwood fellowships is "to enable campus ministers and lay leaders in the campus religious activities to gain knowledge and experience requisite for the development and improvement of useful college and university campus ministry programs."

"Opportunities are provided for issue-oriented study, independent research, formal graduate study, internships and other occupations and other actions designed to improve the quality of the recipient's leadership in higher education and the churches," Russo said.

According to a foundation spokesman, "Preference is given to those persons who, working in collaboration with other professional members of the university community, other ministers and students, discover ways in which the ministry becomes more useful to the changing personal needs of students and faculty, increase its value to educational institutions, find solutions to the structural or organizational problems of the ministry in the university, and explore the implications of prophetic inquiry in education and society."

Additional information and application forms may be obtained from Russo in the Graduate School office, 2202 General Office Building, SIUE.

Grant to finance academy

Springfield — Within a month the first class of 30 is expected to be starting through Illinois' new training academy for correctional officers.

The state department of corrections has requested a $300,000 grant from the Illinois Law Enforcement Commission to establish the academy and a decision is expected before the end of September.

If the money is granted, department officials hope to have the program in operation sometime in October.

Tom Carter, chief of program services for the department, said the staff is optimistic about getting the grant, which is being channeled through the ILEC from the federal Manpower Services program, and have already begun screening applicants for the post of superintendent.

More than 85, including top officials in the field of other states, have applied for the superintendent's post, Carter said, and the field has been narrowed down to 10 individuals, four from out of state and some already in Illinois corrections system. A final decision probably will be made by early next week, he said.

In the initial stages, the academy will operate on a site yet to be determined, and which could even be a motel. Carter said he doubted that a special academy structure would ever be built, but rather that existing space would be found to permanently house the academy once the actual work of setting it up and drawing up a curriculum had been done.

Under the program, middle management personnel including sergeants, lieutenants, captains and senior guard captains will receive 40 hours of instruction over a 30 week period.

Eventually, some 300 are expected to go through the program, and from that group a cadre of 80 will be selected to handle future training programs in various areas of expertise, as needed.

The 60 basically would continue in their regular posts, he said, but some funding would be available for travel and expenses to let them observe methods and programs in other states.

Much of the actual training in the academy program will rely heavily on outside consultants.

Included in the basic grant would be a $7,000 sum to be set aside to encourage "residents" (inmates) in state correctional facilities to help develop the course content by suggesting programs of areas of study they feel should be included in the training of the officers who control the institutions where they are serving sentences.

Allyn Sienicki, state corrections director, had indicated shortly after being named to the post in June that establishment of a training academy for guards and other corrections personnel had a high priority in his plans for the department.

A survey of the training situation in Illinois, regarding correctional facilities, was recently done by the federal Law Enforcement Assistance Administration and the American Corrections Association, with final evaluation done by Dr. Henry Burns Jr., assistant professor in the college of human development at the University of Pennsylvania.

Though there are some training programs in other states, and a start has been made toward a nation corrections academy or institution, Carter said, "we're looking at setting up a program that we don't believe exists anywhere else."

Initial funding probably would rely on grants for a year or two, he said, after which it probably will become the responsibility of the department to provide for future financing.

The academy is planned as an on-going operation, Carter said, to train incumbents in the Illinois corrections system and to provide future pre-service training for new employees.

Assessing keeping Quad-Cities from Levee majority — Whitsell

Nameoki Township Supervisor Louis Whitsell during the weekend visit to the Illinois Department of Local Government Affairs to ask that "determine whether Madison County, rather than St. Clair County, should be in control of the East Side Levee and Sanitary District Board of Trustees."

"We believe that our investigation will show the St. Clair County portion of the levee district is over-assessed and that the slight edge over Madison County gives St. Clair County a three-to-two advantage on the five-member Board of Trustees."

"If we had a higher valuation, Madison County would be entitled to elect three trustees to the five-man board at the next election in 1976," Whitsell pointed out.

Madison County's portion of the district was assessed at $24,419,018 in 1972 and St. Clair County's portion was assessed at $28,163,643.

But Madison County paid $1.1 million in taxes, while St. Clair County paid only $720,000, he related.

"We are asking your department to conduct this investigation of the assessed valuation within the St. Clair County portion of the district. 'St. Clair County's assessed valuation has been dwindling and we suspect it has been over-assessed.'

"We suppose the bill passed by the state legislature, splitting the district along county lines. This bill was found to be unconstitutional by the State Supreme Court. So as long as both counties must stay in the district, we should have better representation, since we are paying for it," Whitsell asserted.

Lunch program policy fixed

St. Margaret Mary School of Granite City today announced a free meal policy for school children unable to pay the price of meals served in schools under the National School Lunch and School Breakfast Programs.

Illinois statutes require all public schools to provide free lunches to children from families whose income is at or below the established guidelines. Local school officials have adopted the following family size-income criteria for use in determining eligibility.

One in family, $2,740 income; two, $3,600; three, $4,460; four, $5,310; five, $6,160; six, $6,990; seven, $7,800; eight, $8,610; nine, $9,400; ten, $10,190; eleven, $10,980; twelve, $11,760; each additional family member, $640.

Children from families whose income is at or below these guidelines are eligible for meals free. In addition, families not meeting this criteria but with other unusual expenses due to unusually high medical expenses, shelter costs in excess of 30 per cent of income, special education expenses due to the mental or physical condition of a child, and disaster or casualty losses are urged to apply.

"They may do so by filling in the application forms sent home in a letter to parents. Additional copies are available at the principal's office in each school. The information provided on the application will be confidential and will be used only for the purpose of determining eligibility. Applications may be submitted any time during the school year.

In certain cases foster children are also eligible for these benefits. If a family has special children living with them and wishes to apply for such meals for them, they should contact the school.

In the operation of children feeding programs, no child will be discriminated against because of his race, sex, color, or national origin.

Under the provisions of the policy, the principal, Sister Marie Monica, will review applications and determine eligibility. If a parent is dissatisfied with the ruling of the official, he may make a request either orally or in writing to Rev. Edward Groesch, pastor, 1800 St. Clair Ave. for a hearing to appeal the decision. Hearing procedures are outlined in the policy. A complete copy of the policy is on file in each school and in the office of St. Margaret Mary School, where it may be reviewed by any interested party.

SCHOOL DAYS THEME
Mrs. Lela Kollenburn was hostess to the Golden Circle class of the Pontoon Baptist Church Monday evening in her home on Pontoon Road. The meeting opened with prayer by the class president, Lucille Martin.

Roll call was answered with Scripture verses. After a business meeting, guests were led by Mrs. Mattie Felton.

A "school days" theme was used throughout the evening, and a luncheon was served to Mrs. Mary Sturdivant, Mrs. Helen Burgess, Mrs. Ruthel Smith, Miss Joan Sturdivant, Mr. and Mrs. Loren Dillman, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Falter Sr., and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Martin.

The class will meet with Mr. and Mrs. Martin in October.

Miss Nina Hale and Robert W. Stevens were united in marriage in a double ring ceremony at 7:30 p.m. Sept. 7, performed by the Rev. M. W. Wilson, pastor of Glenview Chapel Assembly of God Church, at Trinity United Methodist Church.

Mrs. Joyce Harris, organist, played "Speak Softly Love" and "Sunrise, Sunset."

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Hale of Patton, Mo., formerly of Granite City. Mr. Stevens is a son of Mrs. Elizabeth Stevens of Granite City and the late Robert W. Stevens Sr.

Given in marriage by her father, the former Miss Hale was attired in a gown of bridal satin enhanced with Venice lace. Lace formed the high Victorian neckline and accented the Empire bodice. The leg-of-mutton sleeves were edged in pleated organza at the wrists.

Her mantilla veil, chapel length, was trimmed in Venice lace and she carried a bouquet of white carnations.

The matron of honor was Mrs. Mark Beasley, a sister of the bride. The bridesmaids included Mrs. Ray Winters and Mrs. Wally Schmidt and junior bridesmaid, Melinda Stevens, a sister of the groom.

The attendants wore identical gowns of turquoise organza fashioned with high necklines and short puffed sleeves. The groom's waist was defined with white lace ruffling and each held a bouquet of yellow carnations.

The groom chose his brother, Doug Stevens, as best man. Ray Winters, Wally Schmidt and Mark Hale, a brother of the bride, were groomsmen. Guests were seated by Larry Pirtle. Christy Von, Nida attended Both young people are graduates of Granite City High School. The bride is employed at the Colonades Nursing Home. Her husband, who attended Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, works at St. Elizabeth Hospital. They are now residing in Granite City.

Junior Garden Club organizes

The newly formed Junior Garden Club, sponsored by The Garden Study Club, held an organizational meeting and election of officers in the home of Mrs. George Stearns, president of the host club.

Those elected to serve for the coming year include Terri Kaye Thies, president; Beth Helt, vice-president; Carolyn Godin, secretary and Randy Sigite, treasurer.

Primary purpose of the teenage garden club is to promote beautification of the city home gardens and the surrounding area and a better appreciation of ecology.

Those attending discussed aims, projects and workshops to further the club's programs.

Mrs. E. H. Thies, promoter of the idea and chairman of the adult committee, and Mrs. Robert Blankenship, co-chairman, spoke at the meeting. They expressed the hope that other local garden clubs will sponsor youth groups with similar aims in gardening and ecology, enabling an interchange of ideas to take place between the clubs.

Refreshments were served by the hostess to Kimberly Blankenship, Susan Sigite, Jennifer Herman, Peggy Smolich, Kathy Cornelissen and the officers.

Kimberly Blankenship received the afternoon prize. The first project conceived by the club is planting of terrariums. All boys and girls interested in gardening are being invited to become charter members and may contact any member for information relative to the next meeting.

TV STOLEN

New laws protect children, consumers

Gov. Dan Walker during the weekend signed five bills to protect children and 15 bills to protect consumers in the areas of real estate sales and mortgages, apartment security deposits, pure food and drugs, merchandise repairs and insurance.

Gov. Walker said:

"I am signing 18 bills today.

"One group of bills to prevent child abuse is a real breakthrough for the mistreated youngsters of our state.

"We now have a bill of rights for children. When there is custody dispute, the best interests of the child will come first—even before the rights of the natural parents.

"We now have legal safeguards to prevent a repetition of last year's Johnny Lindquist case.

"Johnny was removed from his natural parents because they abused him. He wanted to stay with the father parents whom he loved.

"But the courts sent Johnny back to his natural parents, and Johnny Lindquist died of injuries from being battered around. His parents are going on trial for murder.

"The real tragedy is that these laws weren't on the books in time to prevent Johnny's death.

"The second package of bills adds important new protections for the consumer.

"Tighter controls are being imposed on the use of experimental drugs and on the sale of meats, poultry and frozen foods.

"Another bill requires landlords to refund security deposits within 30 days of a tenant's departure or give the tenant an itemized account of damages.

"Companies advertising 'factory authorized service' on their products will have to prove that the repair services they offer are really factory authorized."

Gov. Walker said he regretted that several more consumer protection bills before the legislature last session were killed or postponed.

He said:

"I pointed out in my special message last May that we need reform of credit laws and other laws affecting consumers.

"I will continue to fight for passage of consumer protection measures, including requirements for unit price labels, other retail sales disclosure measures and reforms in auto repair practices, installment purchases and assignment of wages."

Industrial growth in state noted

Springfield—During the first six months of 1973, a total of 282 companies established new manufacturing plants or expanded existing ones in Illinois, according to a report issued by the state's Department of Business and Economic Development. This figure represents an increase of 34 over the same period of 1972.

"Illinois has the economic climate and geographical elements for attracting new industrial growth," said Howard Frick, director of the department, in assessing the increase. "We have all the ingredients it takes to prove the fact that we have gone out and made a sincere effort to attract new and expanded businesses.

"We are actively concentrating our efforts by getting out and providing a service to communities and businesses. Our people are putting in a lot of hours in this effort," explained Frick.

These new and expanded plants created a total of 16,434 new jobs. During the first six months of 1973, the 248 new and expanded plants accounted for 12,440 new jobs in manufacturing, according to B.E.D.'s division of industrial development.

U. S. Department of Labor figures indicate that manufacturing employment in Illinois averaged 1,252,400 jobs during the first five months of 1973, up from 1,200,000 jobs in January through May of 1972. Although the largest area of manufacturing growth was the northern counties in and around Chicago, downstate Illinois also benefited from the 282-company increase. Champaign, Deloit, Ford, Platt and Shelby counties in central Illinois as well as the southern counties of Clinton, Franklin, Jackson, Jefferson, Madison, Marion, Monroe, Perry and Randolph saw the establishment of new or expanded plants.

The B.E.D. is actively involved in a wide range of programs and business services to enhance the state's economic growth. Three divisions are especially active in that aim. They include:

Industrial development—"plant finders" who attempt to match up industry with communities.

Community development—works directly with the community through local government's, chambers of commerce, and other bodies to develop and promote growth and economic development. If so, they determine what facilities the community has to offer and what price they are willing to pay for growth.

Research—comprised of economists and statisticians who do a lot of "prospecting" in the search for new economic growth.

Warning to farmers

Director of Agriculture Robert J. "Bud" Williams has warned farmers planning to use anhydrous ammonia tanks for propane gas storage this fall to clean their tanks away from streams, living foliage and buildings.

He said local anhydrous dealers could supply information for cleaning tanks and that National Fire Protection Association regulations are available at LP-gas dealers.

Free events to mark Mexico Week festival

The Mexican American Cultural Committee of St. Louis has announced the schedule of events for "Semana De Mexico," Mexico Week in St. Louis, slated through Sunday. The week's events will serve to commemorate Mexico's Independence from Spain, Sept. 16, 1821.

Exhibitions of Mexican folk art, paintings and sculpture will be on display throughout the week at various sites. Documentary films on Mexico will be shown during the week at the Main Library and branch libraries in St. Louis. Lectures on Mexico will be featured at the St. Louis Art Museum in Forest Park and the Main Library in downtown St. Louis. There will be Mexican folk dancing and singing at several locations featuring El Grupo Artistico Cultural Mexicano Americano, a greater St. Louis area artistic group under the direction of Daniel Flores.

The cultural events will be highlighted by a performance on Sunday from 2 to 4 p.m. of a troupe of top entertainers from Mexico City at Kiel Auditorium. Featured will be the Mariachi Michoacan, a Mexican band consisting of eight musicians, and the Ballet Folklorico, a Mexican band consisting of eight musicians, and the Ballet Folklorico De Yama, a folk dancing group. Sunday's presentation, offered free to the public, will also feature a group of folk dancers and singers from San Antonio, Tex.

Tickets may be obtained by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Mexican American Cultural Committee, P.O. Box 15806, St. Louis, Mo. 63114. A limit of four tickets has been set for each request.

Several Granite City residents are among those scheduled to perform during the week-long celebration. Miss Leonor Angelica Perez, 17, of Afton, will serve as Embajadora, or good will ambassador, during the week. She was selected over seven other St. Louis area finalists at a benefit dance at Venice-Madison American Legion Hall.

The young woman was presented an all-expense paid trip to Mexico City, courtesy of Garza Tours and Mexicana Airlines, to commemorate her selection, according to Mrs. Elva Ortiz of Granite City, committee secretary.

SIU board meets Friday
